60 OFF!

Yessiree, only 60 of these full-color portraits of Alfred E. Neuman, MAD's "What—Me Worry?" kid... suitable for framing or wrapping fish... came off our shelves last year! That's because most people discount these sneaky ads which offer them for 60¢ for 1, $1.25 for 3, $2.55 for 9, $5.15 for 27 or $10.35 for 81. LETTERS DEPT.

E.T.

Congratulations to Jack Rickard on another great cover! I have only one criticism: You should have published the E.T. cover before the "Rocky" cover. That way you could have had E.T. giving Alfred a new tooth, and then have Rocky knocking it right back out!

Mark Allen
New York, NY

Being loved by both children and adults alike, E.T. certainly bridged the generation gap. Now, after looking at MAD #236's cover, I can see that E.T. wanted to leave no gap unfilled.

Ken Mitchell
Denver, CO

It was nice to see that E.T. got "Close-Up" to Alfred and gave him a "Gleem"-ing full smile. Only I hope that someone takes "Aim" at old Alfie and makes him snaggle-toothed again. Seeing him with all his teeth left me feeling "Crest"-fallen.

John B. Yeager III
Quinlan, TX

E.T.c.

I thought your "E.T." spoof showed Jack Davis's Quality Talent and Stan Hart's Quick Thinking. Both should be Quarantined Together again in another MAD article.

Jack Tutela
Quincy, MA

After I read your version of "Q.T.," I don't blame him for wanting to go home.

STAR TREK II

I would like to "Khan-gratulate" Dick DeBartolo and Mort Drucker for "Star Blech II." It was simply "Spock-tacular!"

Dan Dactz
Sunnyvale, CA

DeBartolo and Drucker have always been very "Enterprising".—Ed.

After Kirk told Spock to send General Alert and Major Dilemma to the bridge, Dick DeBartolo could have added some additional dialogue to the scene:

SPOCK: Ha, ha, ha.

KIRK: Why are you laughing, Mr. Spock?

SPOCK: It's a private matter, Admiral.

KIRK: In that case, you better have Private Matter report to the bridge, too!

Gary Goldberg
Los Osos, CA

PAC-ING 'EM IN

Concerning MAD #235's Letters Page, I would like to say that your readers must be MAD to count the number of Pac-Men in an issue of MAD. Besides they are all wrong. The correct number is 35. Am I right?

Jacqueline Chu
Western District, HONG KONG

In your latest issue I counted 50 E.T.'s, 25 Annies, 14 Mr. Spocks and 3 Don Martin signatures.

Jeffrey Shapiro

BLASTING BLASTERS

Please note that in MAD #236, Don Martin's E.T. Out-Take Department was completely wrong. With all the junk they load on ghetto blasters these days, how do you expect anyone to hold it up with one hand?

Sandy Ferguson
Toronto, CANADA

SEA SICK

This is just a note to tell you how important your magazine is to a lonely sailor on the high seas. MAD is the closest thing to sanity around. It helps me to keep my head together. Thanks a lot!

Next Shore Leave, try splashing on a little "Old Spice"—Ed.

A PRYOR ISSUE

I am the Director of "Some Kind Of Hero," and I must say that your piece "Dumb Kind Of Hero" (MAD #235) was nothing short of brilliant. There's nothing like having your film destroyed, mangled and brutally assaulted. I thoroughly enjoyed it.

Michael Pressman
Universal City, CA

A "TIMELESS" COVER

Boy, is TIME magazine desperate for a cover picture! MAD #233, disguised as a TIME, displayed Pac-Man, right? Next thing you know, TIME is there on the newsstand featuring the video champ. TIME turning to MAD for cover ideas. What is this world coming to?!!

Susan O'Connor
Roswell, GA

MAD, Ahead Of Time

TIME Gone MAD

What do you expect from Time. Back on September 24, 1956 they called MAD "a short-lived satirical pulp".—Ed.

OZBOURNE AGAIN

I would like to tell Mr. R.A. Hill of Somewhere USA (MAD #236 Letters Page) that if he is going to insult my favorite rock star, Ozzy Ozbourne, at least get his information straight. Regarding Ozzy's taste for chicken, it was the head of a bat he bit off, not a chicken!

Shane E. Wood
Butler, PA

Frank Perdue will be very relieved to hear this.—Ed.

C'EST LE GERE DEPT.

You've heard about the creaky, old-fashioned movies your parents (and their parents) went to see when they were your age? Well, those kind of simple-minded tear-jerkers are back! Only this time, they're loaded with steamy sex so they appear to be "contemporary". But take it from us, they're the same old tired films! Oh? You don't believe us? Well see for yourself as you feast your eyes (while starving your brain) on our version of one example:

You low-life scum!
You crawling lice!
You festering boils!
You stinkin' piles of ka-ka! I have only one word to say to the sickening likes of you!!
WELCOME...!!

At first, I worried about the insults,
the torture
and the abuse
he'd hand out!

And now...??

I don't mind it... because I know he's trying to mold us—
harden us—and make us into something!

Navy
Pilots?

No... masochists!

You see these ribbons?! You see these medals?! I got 'em killing THREE HUNDRED ugly, depraved, filthy human swine!

You... you killed three hundred of the ENEMY??

Who's talking
"ENEMY," boy?
I'm talking
"RECRUITS"!

Now haul-ass to the barbers!!

Why is he being so NASTY to us?

I think he's trying to get revenge for 250 years of racial oppression!

All in one afternoon?!?

AN OFFICER AIN'T NO GENTLEMAN

ARTIST: MORT DRUCKER

WRITER: STAN HART

Hi! I'm Zapp Mayhem! I guess you're wondering why a guy like me would want to be a Navy Pilot! Well, while I'm waiting for the barber to shave my head, I'll bore you with a few flashbacks—like when I was sent to live with my Dad, a Navy man stationed in Manila—

Okay, kid! I want you to settle in and make yourself right at home here!

That's nice of you, Dad!

Not really, you see... because I'm MOVING OUT!!

Don't go, Pop! You deserted Mommy and me once already!!

Stop your whining! I don't hear your MOTHER complaining!

She killed herself last week!

NO WONDER I don't hear her complaining!

Can I ask you a question, Dad? How come, in ten years, I've never seen you wear anything but that one pair of soiled undershorts?!!

Are you trying to tell me I'm a slob?!? Well, I'm not! Just for your info, I have TWO pair of soiled undershorts—and I rotate them once a month!

Gee, Dad... I don't know... I don't feel very good lately! This kind of life is starting to get me down! I'm not doing anything for myself...!!

Bull!! You're getting yourself into GREAT SHAPE! And can you think of a BETTER way to do push-ups?!!

Dad... I want to go to Navy Pilot Officer's Candidate School!

Hah!! You gotta be a college grad to qualify!!

That's okay! I DID go to Manila A & M...!

Agriculture and Mineral?

No... Amphetamine and Methadone!

You, an Officer and a Gentleman?!? Hah! Look at that hair—that unshaven mug—that vulgar tattoo!!

Hey... no sweat! I can fix that! All I need is a little ADHESIVE TAPE!

... and that's the end of the flashbacks...!

Mayhem, after that dumb adhesive tape trick, I'm gonna derive a special pleasure from flunking you out within a week!

Thanks a lot, Sir! I'm gonna look really terrific trying to get a civilian job with a haircut like this...!

BARBER SHOP

Now give me 100 PUSH-UPS!

Gee, this isn't nearly as much fun as doing them with a girl!!

What's the matter? Is it too hard for you weaklings... running in place?!!

It is when that place happens to be a sewer!

Good idea, changing into our party dresses here in the car...!!

That way, when we show up at the base for the dance, they'll think we're debutantes instead of plain ordinary factory girls, huh, Maula?!

I'm not so sure, Dinette...!

Hey, the Sarge really isn't so bad! At least he treats every-one the same!!

What do you mean?

Take a look over there!

You stinkin' louse! You dripping blob of snot! You disgusting pig-faced slut! Wanna dance??

Love to... you smooth talker!

Now that I took off my coveralls, no one would ever suspect that we're factory girls, huh, Maula?

Maybe yes... maybe no, Dinette!

Wait! If we do this on our first date, will you respect me?

Maybe not... but my PALS'll really respect ME!!

Hey, fancy pants! Let's see if you Navy guys are MEN... or FAGGOTS!

Yeah! Ha-ha-hah!!

Zapp, why are we here?

So we can have the "Tough Town Bullies" versus the "Clean-Cut Strangers" scene!

But that's been done so many times before!!

What... in this picture ... HASN'T been done before?!!

You learned that from watching Sgt. Fooley on the base?

No... from watching "Billy Jack" in the movies!

You're a street kid, aren't you? No gentleman could pound guys into bloody pulps the way you did!

But I want to be a gentleman!

Then you have got to stop beating up guys like that! You're right...

From now on ... I'll only beat up GIRLS!

God, why can't I learn to leave bad enough alone!?

I'm broke, and I need a shined-up brass buckle for inspection! Can I have one on account...?

It's strictly cash and carry, Pal!

Aw, you fink!!

Incidentally, if you can't shine up a simple brass buckle, how are you ever gonna handle a jet plane?

We got no use for wheeler-dealers around here! I'm gonna make you quit the Academy!

Why don't you just THROW ME out?!!

Oh, no!! That's not nearly as dramatic as forcing you to quit by breaking your spirit!

You stinkin' pile of body wastes! You fungus on the rump of a dirty, diseased rickshaw driver! You...

Y'know... sticks and stones may break my bones—

Thanks for the SUGGESTION! I'll USE them!

You ready to break yet, boy!

I know all about your family, boy! Your father is an alcoholic bum and your mother killed herself! You come from a long line of "no-guts" folks...!

Not even CLOSE!!

You can't break me, no matter what you say! But can I ask you a question, Sergeant...?

How do you like spending YOUR weekend this way?

You never let me in on anything personal in your life! Why?

Because I don't want us to get too close!

If we got any closer, we'd be Siamese Twins!!

Don't mind him!! He's always hostile to any guy who's having illicit sex with our daughter!

How many others were there?

Oh, forget it, Zapp! You're the first...

The VERY FIRST?? ... this week!!

Why? WHY? Why does everything I come near die, decay or turn horribly ugly?

Thanks a lot!

You caused his death with all your bullying! I'm going to make you pay for it!!

And I'm gonna enjoy kickin' your butt, boy!

No, you won't, Sergeant Fooley, because I've got a score to settle with you... I've got Skid's memory to fight for... and I've got right on my side....!!

But there's one thing you AIN'T got!!

... A steel jock!!

Throwing our hats in the air at graduation is the Navy's oldest tradition!

And spending the rest of the day finding them is the second oldest!

Thanks, Sergeant... for everything! You taught me something I never knew before!

What's that, Sir...?

... That a EUNUCH can become a Navy Pilot!!

Which brings us to this big, final tear-jerking scene where I storm into the factory, pick you up in my arms and carry you off to get married....!!

But first, can you tell me; Why do all you girls want to marry us Navy Pilots??

Do you know of any OTHER way of becoming a Navy Pilot's WIDOW ... and collecting all of that INSURANCE?!!

URBAN ON THE ROCKS DEPT.

It doesn't take a genius to see that our cities are in big trouble these days. Mass Transit is in a shambles, streets are caving in around us, and employee productivity is down. Take a look at this typical city to see what we mean...

WRITER: DICK DE BARTOLO AND FRED BLOCK

ARTIST: HARRY NORTH

Now for the really bad news. When you turn this page, you're going to see some of the dumbest ideas, proposals and solutions ever conceived in an article called

MAD'S SUGGESTIONS FOR HOW OUR CITIES CAN SOLVE THEIR PROBLEMS

(While Clearing A Little Extra Cash On The Side!) 19

Turn the pools into giant breeding farms for lobsters! There's big money to be made in selling sea food these days and, best of all, out-of-work lifeguards could come off the unemployment lines to run the entire operation.

Move the Unemployment Office to a different abandoned, run-down building every week! Then, while the unemployed are waiting to sign for their check, have them repair, sand, paint, carpet, etc. By the end of each week the city would have a snappy reconditioned building to sell while the unemployed people will feel useful and not notice how long they have to wait to sign for a check.

Turnstiles placed every five blocks down the center of the street! Let the paraders pay for the privilege of messing up the city's traffic and sanitation schedule.

Install Cable TV on all city buses! A bus fare is much cheaper than the cost of a movie ticket and the bus could drop riders off at their doorstep at the end of the show.

Forget spending millions to repave, get celebrities to sign the potholes! If schmucks travel from all over to see star's foot prints on Hollywood Blvd., you can bet they'll flock to see your local "Celebrity Potholes!"

Put the firemen to work during slack time periods as window washers for high-rise office and apartment buildings. The city and firemen could split whatever they make 50-50.

Double Parking Meters! Sure, double parking is illegal, but as long as motorists are going to do it anyway, they might as well be forced to pay double the normal rates.

Load up police car trunks with letters, parcels, pizzas —anything that needs quick, same-day delivery service. Since police have to drive through neighborhoods anyway, and have the extra advantage of being able to use their siren, they'll be able to give cheaper and faster service than any local messenger service while turning big, big profits for both themselves and the city's empty coffers.

THE U.S. VIDEO GAM

VITO "GUTS" CALAMARI
Fort Wayne, Indiana
Specialty: Missile Command

During a two-week stretch, Calamari broke all Missile Command records, despite a strep throat, a 103-degree fever and a painful blister on his "button finger." And despite having his appendix removed two hours earlier, Calamari showed up for his qualifier and destroyed 171 groups of missiles while lying on a stretcher. His ambition is to play TWO Missile games simultaneously, while undergoing brain surgery.

WILMER "ANIMAL" MUNGLER
Huntsville, Alabama
Specialty: Frenzy

Early in his career, Munger won his acclaim at Centepede when he became the first local player to eliminate the crawling monster by throwing a brick through the screen. Now a Frenzy fanatic, he can wipe out an average of 3,000 robots per game, celebrating each triumph with a gleeful, and ear-shattering shriek of "KILL! KILL!" In 1982, he was named "Alabama Player of the Year"...after which he was declared totally insane.

JOSE "SHARK" YAMAHA
Phoenix, Arizona
Specialty: Defender

A money player, Yamaha nets around $200 a week by spotting lesser players 20,000 points and offering to play them with one arm tied behind his back. He has yet to lose, due to his ability to hit the blast button with his nose. Barred from local arcades for gambling, Yamaha has used his winnings to put a Defender game in his basement, where daily he hustles neighborhood kids, accepting both "MasterCard" and "Visa."

SHAMUS "HULK" EPSTEIN
Chicago, Illinois
Specialty: Berzerk

An aspiring mobster, Epstein considers every Berzerk game machine his sworn enemy. Before playing his first game, he warned Evil Otto there was a "contract" out on him, then broke the Illinois Berzerk record by one million points. After he was finally wiped out, Epstein swore revenge on the machine. Two days later, it was found at the bottom of Lake Michigan, its transistors ripped out and a rock tied around it.

AL "IRON MAN" ARGLY
Escondido, California
Specialty: Tempest

Known throughout Southern California as "The Marathon Man," Argly set a new West Coast record for battling Tempest for seventy-seven consecutive hours, the last nineteen of which he played while fast asleep. Argly, whose personal high score is 840,000, keeps up his playing stamina by popping vitamin pills, ducking his head into pails of ice water and punching himself in the face, neck and chest.

Totally spaced out on ludes, grass, cocaine and "Crazy Glue," Phynque can be heard croaking and grunting while piling up 70,000-plus scores on Frogger. In truth, he is talking to the frogs, whom he calls "Electronic Soul Brothers," and whom he believes communicate with him after each successful leap. Phynque looks forward to the day when the green creatures will take their place as the rightful rulers of the Earth.

WANDA "EASY" BAXDALE
Hartford, Connecticut
Specialty: Qix

Baxdale first won attention as an arcade groupie, offering to let top male players make out with her behind the change booth. When everyone turned her down, she became a Qix champ, setting a U.S. mark of 240,000. This has won her fame, an Olympic bid and the admiration of nearly all male players, who consider her one of the all-time greats. However, they still wouldn't be caught dead with her behind the change booth.

Spokane, Washington
Specialty: Pac-Man

A numerology mystic, Keever is tuned into the number 6. Before a Pac-Man match, he pulls 6 hairs from his head, then holds his breath for 66 seconds. In his greatest triumph, he began a game at 6:06 P.M. and racked up a score of 6,666,660. Keever was born on the 6th day of the 6th month and, because of his constant daily playing of Pac-Man arcade games, is currently repeating the 6th grade for the 6th time.

JOB QUALIFICATIONS

I've interviewed all the job applicants, Mr. Gormley, and I've found one young man who is DOUBLY QUALIFIED!!

Can he program and operate a computer?

Absolutely, Sir...

And does he know General Accounting?

Perfectly! And he's thoroughly familiar with all the new tax laws, too!

So are all the other applicants! What makes him "DOUBLY QUALIFIED"?!?

He's single!!

MODERN MORALITY

The world is getting really rotten these days! There's no honesty left! There are no more scruples! You can't TRUST anybody any more!!

This morning, somebody passed me some funny money... a bogus bill... a counterfeit twenty!!

Really...?? Show it to me!!

I can't!

I got rid of it at the Supermarket!!

WISDOM

Grandma, you've lived for a very long time! Tell me, what did you learn about life...?

I learned that life is one contradiction after another!

Oh, no it's not!!

RELATIONSHIPS

Now that we're going steady, I think I ought to tell you I'm seeing a Psychiatrist!

Gee, what a coincidence! So am I!!

STATUS CLOTHING

How much is this knit shirt?

$55.95...

Wow! Why is it so expensive?

Look at it, and you'll see why!!

I'm looking at it... and I don't see anything special!

Ah-hah! That's IT! Now we're talking "status"!

It doesn't have the manufacturer's name, or initials, or any little animals on it!!

ECONOMICS

Legend has it that George Washington... with a mighty heave... threw a silver dollar across the Potomac River!

Bet he couldn't do that today!!

Why not??

Money doesn't go as far!!

EATING OUT

Did you enjoy your meal, Sir?

That depends!

CONCLUSIONS

Also an Accountant... a Computer Programmer... and a Bank Teller!

I wish you wouldn't read that comic book while we're eating!

Huh...?? Why not??

People will think we're MARRIED!!

SACRIFICES

I've just been reading about the terrible things that can happen to me if I smoke pot!

So I've decided to give it up... once and for all...!!

You're going to give up smoking pot?! Oh, that's WONDERFUL!!

Not POT, idiot!

READING!!

FIREMEN

First let me see the CHECK ...and then I'll tell you!

I wonder why so many firemen have dogs?

I know why!

That's how the firemen find the fire hydrants!

NAGGING

Hurry up!
We're gonna be late!!

I know! I know!
Listen... let's exchange roles!

This time...YOU
dress the children!

Sure...!
Why not?!

But what are YOU going to do...??

Go outside and sit in the car...

...and blow the horn!!

ASSUMPTIONS

Dad, will you do me a favor
...and answer
two questions?

Okay...!
What's the first question?

Can I go on an overnight camping trip with Charlie McGilla?

That's one question! What's the second question...??

WHY NOT...?!

COPS

It's been a quiet night...! No murders, no robberies, no gang wars, no drug pushing, no hookers, no speeding cars, no family fights, no NOTHING! It's been downright boring!

Don't worry! Something is bound to happen real soon!!

Yeah? What makes you say that??

I have faith in human nature!

A MAD LOOK AT THE D OPTIMISM, PESSIM

ARTIST: JACK DAVIS

Upon hearing an insect buzzing around inside his moving car . . .

. . . the Realist stops the car immediately and rolls down the windows, in case it's a wasp.

. . . the Optimist rolls up the windows, in case it's a species of rare tropical moth that might escape before he can sell it.

. . . the Pessimist drives straight to a mortuary so he'll be ready for immediate embalming in case it's a "Killer Bee."

Upon being told by her date that she looks exactly like Cheryl Tiegs . . .

. . . the Realist knows exactly what the guy hopes to accomplish by telling her such lies, and accepts or rejects him.

. . . the Optimist takes the very next plane to New York City to seek fame and fortune as a professional model,

. . . the Pessimist worries that any kidnapper who may have plans to grab Cheryl Tiegs will get her by mistake.

ly won't... or we're overly pessimistic and assume that everything will turn out all wrong, when some of it may actually turn out all right. Unfortunately, the most blissful optimists and the most gloomy pessimists are the last ones to realize that their view of the world is cockeyed. So, to straighten all you clods out, here's

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN PESSIMISM & REALISM

WRITER: TOM KOCH

Upon seeing the words, "For a good time, call Gertie at 555-8080" on a phone booth wall...

... the Realist knows this is some prankster's attempt to harrass an innocent girl.

... the Optimist showers and puts on a suit before calling the number, in case Gertie invites him to come right over.

... the Pessimist dutifully calls, even though he's sure that Gertie's a beast, and even more sure that she'll turn him down flat regardless.

Upon hearing a prolonged, high-pitched bleep broadcast over the radio...

... the Realist figures it's just a Civil Defense test, and waits for regular programming to resume

... the Optimist figures it's the latest "punk rock" hit, and is overjoyed that he's one of the first to have heard it.

... the Pessimist figures it's an air raid alert, and spends the next month in a cellar waiting for the "all clear."

Upon being confronted by someone he knows while registering with a strange woman at a motel . . .

. . . the Realist introduces her as his company's "Regional Manager" . . . and then hopes for the best.

. . . the Optimist assumes that his friend is there with a strange woman too, and begins anticipating a group-fun evening.

. . . the Pessimist gives his friend all the cash he has, and promises to make another blackmail payment in two weeks.

Upon hearing that his plane can't take off until the morning because of the fog . . .

. . . the Realist is delighted the airline is concerned enough about safety to postpone the flight.

. . . the Optimist is delighted to have an opportunity to offer the Stewardess a place to stay overnight: his hotel room.

. . . the Pessimist is delighted to learn that his anticipated death in a plane crash has been put off for one more day.

Upon being mistakenly identified in a police line-up by a mugging victim . . .

. . . the Realist tries to think of someone who can vouch for his whereabouts at the time of the robbery.

. . . the Optimist gleefully anticipates being sent to prison, where he can finally get away from his nagging mother.

. . . the Pessimist doesn't even bother to get a lawyer, because he's sure he'll be lynched before his case comes to trial.

Upon seeing a long fly ball headed his way . . .

. . . the Realist knows he'll be traded if he drops one more of these.

. . . the Optimist is so sure he'll catch it and spark a winning streak, he begins planning how to spend his World Series check.

. . . the Pessimist is so sure it's a homer, he just hopes he won't break any bones crashing into the wall in a futile attempt to catch it.

Upon seeing election returns that show a candidate he's trailing by twelve million votes . . .

. . . the Realist concedes defeat after blaming his loss on inflation and the civil war in El Salvador.

. . . the Optimist expects late returns from the West Coast to turn the tide because his nephew out there promised to vote for him.

. . . the Pessimist hires a bodyguard because he suddenly realizes he's even more unpopular than he thought.

Upon spotting an ominous-looking stranger headed up the front walk . . .

. . . the Realist bolts the front door, because he knows that even substitute mailmen don't wear long black capes.

. . . the Optimist opens the door, assuming the creep is a long lost relative who's come to bring him money.

. . . the Pessimist bolts the door, but opens the window so his screams can be heard once the stranger breaks in and starts to torture him (or worse).

JIMMY VAUGHN BECOMES SMITH

KATHY SMITH TO VAUGHNS PLUS CASH IN SURPRISE TRADE

BURGTOWN, MO.—"I still love my parents, but the Smiths made me an offer I just couldn't pass up!" With that brief statement, Jimmy Vaughn, 11, became the first member of the Vaughn family to leave for another organization. He joins the Smith family who, perhaps not coincidentally, leave for a two-week vacation at Disneyland next month.

The man in charge of the Smith organization, Ed Smith, father, had this to say about the trade, which also sent his eldest daughter, Kathy, to the Vaughn family.

"We needed a boy who could take out the garbage. We hated to let Kathy go, but Jimmy is the kind of son you must have in a competitive neighborhood like ours."

Kathy also expressed no regrets.

"The Vaughns are in a much better position to get me into the High School of my choice," she stated. "I plan to give my new family 110%. I know I can do dishes and sew, but I think I can contribute even more in the long run. After all, I have the looks to win a Beauty Pageant someday. Can Jimmy Vaughn say that?"

DOREMI, FA.—In an unprecedented group bargaining agreement, the Cluve children, Toby, 9 and Lisa, 11, have won the right to receive cookies and candy immediately upon earning them for specified good behavior.

"Management (their parents, Olga and Willie Cluve) wanted to spread the treats out over a period of time. But you know how it is. When you deserve something, you want it now!" said spokesman, Toby.

DAVEY CARTWRIGHT, OWNERS, FAR APART ON CONTRACT TERMS Parents Hedge On No-Cut Clause

HEIRSBURG, LA.—“We think the world of Davey, but then so did his four previous families!” That was how Mr. Stuart Cartwright described the feelings of himself and his wife in the current dispute with their youngest free agent son, Davey.

“I’m not asking for anything that comparable children aren’t getting,” said Davey, 10. “I just want security for my declining years. If I lose my touch for pulling weeds or walking the dog when I’m 12 or 13, who’s going to want me?”

For their part, Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright are prepared to play the waiting game.

“We feel he’ll cave in eventually. We just can’t assume responsibility for a son whose ability and long-term loyalty are suspect. Three or four years down the line, we must have the option of unloading him.”

Young Davey is represented in the dispute by the legal firm of Guile, Gall and Grasp, which previously won a landmark case for its clients when

LOCAL MA BELL
GRIEVES WILL RETIRE HER

FURDVUE, TX.—This paper has learned that Diane McGlaughlin, popular local gab queen, will be sent to Esterhazy School For Young Women in exchange for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Officials at Texas Bell Telephone released the story, expressing “profound disappointment” at the loss of their company’s “Top Talker.” Her phone number will be retired, they say, in recognition of the business Diane brought the firm.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McGlaughlin, Diane’s parents, said the move to a boarding school would help the young woman “mature, and learn to function without her own private telephone.”

Diane was unavailable for comment on the move. Reporters attempted to reach her at the home of her best friend, Sue Ann Keeling, but gave up after getting a busy signal for over two hours. Their diligence was eventually rewarded, however, when a new tact was taken and they tried

SUZANNE SCHLEE LOOKS GOOD AT FIRST SPRING CLEANING WORKOUT

Former "Most Valuable Cleaner" Rumored Washed Up

SAN TACLAW, RI. — "I felt good, I felt loose. The vacuum cleaner seemed light as a feather. And my 'duster's elbow' didn't bother me a bit!"

With that report, Suzanne Schlee completed her first day of spring cleaning, exuding confidence and squelching rumors that her days as the "Number One Cleaner" in the Schlee franchise were numbered.

"Anytime you come off a bad year, people start pointing fingers and mops at you," said Suzanne's coach and mother, Mrs. Jane Schlee. "But Suzanne cleaned as well today as she ever has."

Insiders with the Schlee organization claimed that Suzanne was in danger of being traded until today, in spite of her title as family top banana in both dishes washed and dust balls vacuumed last year.

According to one high-level member of the Schlee team, Suzanne worked especially hard over the winter to regain her famed "overhand wipe" which earned her the coveted Windex Silver Squeegee award two years ago.

"Suzanne is a complete cleaner," said older brother Bart, who was resting on the porch when this reporter was (Continued on Page 12)

ROGER HANNAH BECOMES ROGER WILSON AFTER UNAUTHORIZED FAMILY CAR MISHAP

MAKECAH, CA. — Twelve year old Roger Hannah released the parking brake of his parents' new Chevy sedan today, causing the car to wind up in a neighbor's begonia bed, and Roger to wind up with a new family.

"By wrecking the car, Roger violated both the letter and the spirit of his current contract," said Mrs. Hannah, Budget Director of the Hannah organization. "We hate to let him go, but he just doesn't fit our mold any more!"

"I couldn't be happier," responded the free-spirited Roger. "My real parents are such a drag. They didn't even think it was funny when I put our canary into the Vegematic. How could anybody live with people like that? I'm looking forward to working with the Wilsons."

Apparently the feeling is mutual. "The kid is a real find," said Mr. Wally "Firewall" Wilson. "Reminds me of myself at that age. He should fit right in with the ticket-scalping and home-made beer operations we run."

Plans to replace Roger in the Hannah organization were incomplete, but Burt Hannah, president and father, said they could fill the gap nicely with "a good left-handed B-plus student."

"I understand the Millers are looking to trade one of their sons, and those kids are not only good students, but they take their vitamins and brush their teeth, too."

The only thing concerning the transaction that remains to be seen is the consequence of being traded (Please turn to the next page)

Why does all this seem so familiar? I just can't seem to put my finger on it! Oh, well—I guess I'll watch some television—

Well, listen to me, pea-head! You better find that missile or —grr gnash chomp—I'll kick your tail around the parade grounds ten times!

Yes, Ma'am! Whatever you say, Ma'am!

Well, listen to me, numbskull! You better find my false teeth or —grr gnash chomp—I'll play badminton using your brain as the bird!

Gol-lee, Sarge! Whatever you say, Sarge!

NOW I've GOT IT!! This show is the "Gomer Pyle" of the 1980's!

Editor's Note: MAD Magazine unequivocally denies that the preceding satire in any way affected CBS's recent decision to Dishonorably Discharge "Private Benjamin" from the evening TV Network airwaves.

WHAT RECENT

(THANK GOD!)
BURNED ITSELF OUT?

HERE WE GO WITH ANOTHER RIDICULOUS MAD FOLD-IN

A new spiritual movement that recently swept the country has apparently crashed to earth finally. To find out what spiritual movement we're talking about, fold in page as shown.
