ROBERTO PARADA

THE SAP DOESN'T DRIP FAR FROM THE TREE

In MAD #423, you printed my father's (Norman Goodman) letter in your search for long-time subscribers. Truly, my father has issues (that's a pun, boys), but I think the bigger picture is the long-term effect of being exposed to MAD. I was the unsuspecting guinea pig for your insidious plot. Being exposed to MAD both in the womb and for the past 37 years has had serious physical and mental effects. Moving past the fact that I have an uncontrollable need to fold up the last page of magazines, I feel that my long-term exposure to MAD may have been a contributing factor to my becoming a lawyer. You should also be proud of yourself in that I now have two children who will also be twisted into thinking that MAD is more important than the Wall Street Journal and homework. Thank you MAD.

Jeffrey Goodman, Norristown, PA

NOBEL PIECE APPRIZED

You'll no doubt receive a googolplex of letters pointing out your mistake in MAD #423 "People Who Should Have Won This Year's Nobel Prizes," but I couldn't resist adding my letter to the pile. There ain't no Nobel Prize in mathematics. Now I know that readers who point out MAD's errors often get raked over the coals and I'd be honored to become part of that tradition. I'm 31, haven't had a date since the last Bush was President, teach university level philosophy courses, use words like "googolplex" and still read MAD. So hit me with your best shot.

Timothy Chambers, Providence, RI

Timbo — We don't know why, but we spend hours, dare we say a googolplex of hours, finely writing, crafting, honing, buffing and polishing introductions to MAD articles. Had you taken the time (and it appears you have a lot of it on your hands) and read the flippin' intro to the damn Nobel Prize article, you would have seen that we know there "ain't" a Nobel Prize in math and we were suggesting not only potential winners, but potential categories as well. Here's a suggestion for another Nobel Prize category — "Stupid Retardo Dumbhead." Hey, wait, Oslo on the phone! The votes are in and we have a winner! Congrats, Timbo! See you in Sweden. loser! — Ed.

MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

An obviously pleased Robin Williams posing for this picture in order to snag a three-year subscription for RJ! What's the matter, Robin, back hair acting up again?

*Make A Dumb
Wish Foundation™*

I would like to make a wish for the Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™. I would like to be given the Dummy of the Year award by MAD.

Shravas Rao, Reynoldsburg, OH

Shira — Thank you for your letter. We would love to make your dumb wish come true, but unfortunately, the award has already been bestowed upon Timothy Chambers of Providence, RI. Anyone who uses the word "googolplex" richly deserves the Dummy of the Year Award. The best we can do is make you runner-up. If for some reason Timmy is unable to fulfill his duties and obligations over the next year, it may be necessary for you to step in and act stupid. Thanks for your interest in the Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™! —Ed.

Being a male, I am always drawn towards cute, young women. Being an aspiring cartoonist, I am fascinated by female cartoonists, which the cartooning industry is lacking. I have always appreciated Amanda Conner's artwork in your magazine, particularly because female cartoonists are rare. But now after seeing Amanda's self-portrait in your 50th anniversary issue (#423) I find myself physically attracted to her as well. She seems to be a sexy, young woman with a wild side, based on her drawing. So, I have a wish for the Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™. I wish for MAD to hook me up on a date with Amanda Conner. I'll buy her flowers and I'll pay for dinner and I won't keep her out past midnight, I promise.

Shane Cullum, Oceanside, CA

Come back, Shane — We certainly understand your infatuation with the fetching Ms. Conner. Sadly, we must report that Amanda is involved with somebody. The Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™ is charged with going that extra mile to making a dumb wish come true. So, like Shravas Rao, we have arranged for you to be romantic runner-up and get the next best thing to Amanda. Plan to meet long-time MAD contributor John Caldwell at the top of the Empire State Building on February 22nd at 9 p.m. John will be the one with the red rose behind his ear (don't laugh, John makes it work)! Thanks for writing and we wish you the best of luck! —Ed.

BELITTLED DRUMMER BOY

MAD Associate Editor Amy Vozeolas recently paid a visit to the set of Late Show with David Letterman as a guest of drummer Anton Fig. As careful Letters Page readers will remember, Anton visited the MAD offices last month. Amy also met with Letterman band leader, Paul Shaffer, who has never been to the MAD offices! Drop by, Paul!

C.M.I.L.E

I got issue #421 and looked at the Letters and Tomatoes pages. How could Delmore Atom and Christopher Boydston possibly have a crush on Monroe's mom? That's insane! I can understand the fact that some people are in love with animated or cartoon characters (I had a crush on a Japanese animated woman once in the sixth grade), but Monroe's mom? I might be paranoid, but I think something isn't right here.

Jake Fritz, Phoenix, AZ

Less Than Jake — Fans obsessed with cartoon characters is a long-standing problem for editors. Over the years, we've had to deal with wackos enamored with the Gray Lady Spy, Melvin (but oddly enough, never Jenkins) and the Masked Mountie's wonder dog, Biscuit. In the end, the solution always comes down to the same thing — a strong judicial restraining order and a suggestion of lots of warm, sudsy baths. Good luck finding the soap! —Ed.

SLICIN' AND DICIN' WITH THE ONION

I was astonished last month to come across an article in my beloved MAD Magazine belittling my beloved Onion. My beloved MAD accused my beloved Onion of being formulaic in its methods of comedy. Are you telling me that there's any comedy that doesn't have a basic pattern to it? Are you going to even try to tell me that you, the Usual Gang of Idiots, don't use any 50-year-old formulas to make funnies?

Scot Forbes, Ashland, OR

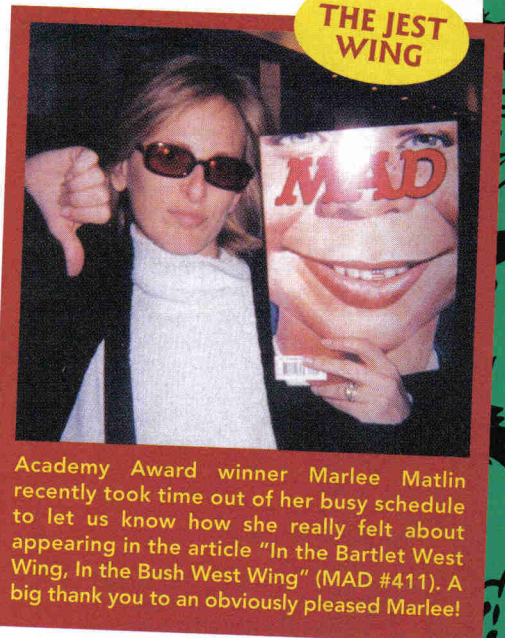

Scotso — We use formulas? So what's your point, clownbird? You must have been sipping the monkey juice, you follow? Fa fa fa! Thanks for writing! —Ed.

G.I. JOKE

In MAD #424, there was a statement made by Spc. Quezada. In his statement he said, "I'm a soldier proudly serving my country to protect all freedoms, including free speech, but it's unfortunate that people like Mr. Devlin would abuse his right by writing an attack on Catholics." Listen, Quezada, I feel that MAD can say and write whatever the hell they want. If you are scared, then go to church. Quit your silly whining and give me twenty, boy. It's good to hear that you will no longer purchase MAD, it's not like they need your hard-earned Uncle Sam cash. MAD, rock on!

Juan Gonzalez, Los Angeles, CA

Gonzo — Thank you for your support, but you are wrong, we do need your hard-earned Uncle Sam cash! —Ed.

Academy Award winner Marlee Matlin recently took time out of her busy schedule to let us know how she really felt about appearing in the article "In the Bartlet West Wing, In the Bush West Wing" (MAD #411). A big thank you to an obviously pleased Marlee!

New York, NY 10019

Dear Amy,

In conjunction with your 50th Anniversary, we were requested by Mr. Richard Hanchette, a resident of our village who claims to have the single largest collection of MAD Magazines in our area, to proclaim October 15, 2002 MAD Magazine Day.

The Village of Strasburg would like to join in the celebration and proclaim October 15, 2002 as MAD Magazine Day.

We wish you many more successful years.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

John E. Bitikofer
Mr. John E. Bitikofer
Mayor
Village of Strasburg

In conjunction with our 50th anniversary, we asked readers to beg their town's mayor to proclaim October 15, 2002 MAD Magazine Day. The response was overwhelming. Oh, who the hell are we kidding, we got one measly response! But it was from the best damn mayor in all of America, Mayor of the Village of Strasburg, Ohio, John E. Bitikofer, sent in by Dick Hanchette of Strasburg, OH!

WE'RE NOT A FAN OF THE FAN OF THE MONTH

Imagine how surprised (and embarrassed) I was to find myself selected as the very first MAD Fan of the Month. Wow! The excitement of it all. You've made me almost famous. I must say, however, that your timing cut it very close. I was just awarded the Boy Scouts of America's highest award in the rank of Eagle Scout. This is a major accomplishment and only those of the highest esteem may pass the board of review and attain the rank. I received my Eagle only two weeks before you made me Fan of the Month. Had you confirmed me several weeks earlier, I may have been denied the Eagle rank. As you know, from many recent news stories, the BSA are very concerned about member's morals and character and set high standards for same. I'm sure that anyone who reads MAD could be considered in violation of the "morally straight" or the "clean" statutes of the Scout Law and Oath. However, I do get one credit for being "thrifty" since MAD is cheap! I hope this blemish on my record does not leave a permanent stain.

Ben Weide, Jacksonville, FL

Benji — It's clear you didn't get a merit badge for conciseness! We've read shorter State of the Union addresses than your pathetically bloated letter! You leave us no choice but to strip you of the coveted MAD Fan of the Month title and all privileges and rights accorded thereof. Thanks for writing! —Ed.

ALL FANS ON DECK

In school, our class is doing a random act of thanking for Thanksgiving. We need to write a letter to someone thanking him or her in some way. Well, I picked you. I am thanking you for giving me great reading and amazing laughs for four years straight. I may not have the best taste, but I do enjoy your taste. Without your magazine, I wouldn't be able to make fun of my friends. So in conclusion, I thank you for giving me great reading for the years that I have read the magazine.

Russell Page, Cary, IL

Rusty — Thank you for your letter. It so moved us, that we are happy to bestow on you the coveted title of MAD Fan of the Month, recently stripped from that infamous windbag Ben Weide. Congrats and please don't write us again! —Ed.

Due to space limitations, we were unable to print the photos we received from Adam Dolewski of Irvine, CA, Jon Montgomery of Roslyn, WA and Edwick Gaffney of Roswell, CA. Some would say they're the real winners!

Sure, NASCAR may look like a bunch of sun-baked Cannonball Run refugees making hard lefts until their gas tanks empty or their bladders get full. But to true tune-huffers, NASCAR isn't just a mind-numbingly repetitive crackerfest — it's a mind-numbingly repetitive crackerfest with rules! (For example, all windshields must be "standard protection laminated glass or hard-coated polycarbonate with a minimum one-quarter inch thickness." Too bad there's not a similar requirement for the thickness of NASCAR fans' skulls!) So now, with the betterment of the, er, "sport" in mind, we not-so-humbly offer...

MAD'S PROPOSED

RULE CHANGES FOR THE UPCOMING SEASON

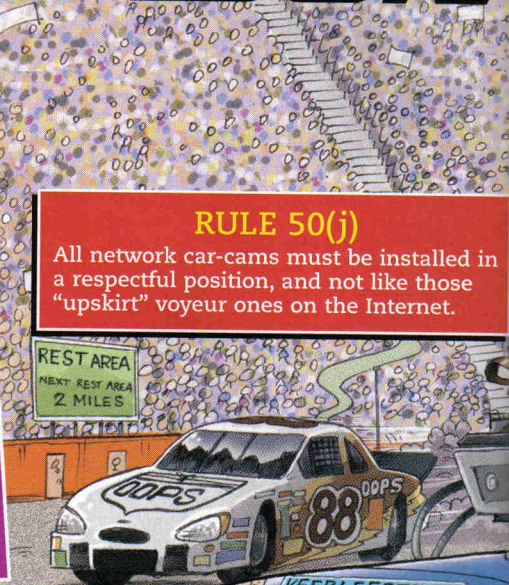

RULE 82(a)

A driver shall be deemed too old for the NASCAR circuit if he completes 200 consecutive laps with his blinker signal on.

RULE 50(j)

All network car-cams must be installed in a respectful position, and not like those "upskirt" voyeur ones on the Internet.

RULE 11(t)

No driving team may accept a big-money sponsorship from Havoline, Pennzoil, Valvoline or STP, unless they prove their devotion to the correct product in a blind taste test.

RULE 4(i)

All cars and uniforms must have at least one inch of free space not plastered by ad logos to allow the needed oxygen to get inside.

RULE 30(n)

When large crowds make movement through the grandstand difficult, NASCAR fans will be permitted to "draft" behind a fat guy.

DICK TRICKLE

RULE 46(k)

NASCAR driver Dick Trickle must immediately begin calling himself "Richard" from now on, if only to shut up those snickering, pull-my-finger frat boys from ESPN's SportsCenter.

RULE 12(w)

The little plastic swivel-hip Hawaiian girl, the big blue dice and the pine-scented cardboard tree shall not count towards a vehicle's official weight.

RULE 30(e)

From this day forward, NASCAR drivers must agree to call PGA golfers "athletes," and the golfers agree to do the same favor for them.

RULE 75(d)

After having huffed gasoline fumes for 14 straight hours, no driver shall be penalized for his choice in groupies following a race.

RULE 47(d)

When a driver gets killed during qualification trials instead of a real race, NASCAR officials only have to act 50% as sad.

RULE 20(y)

To avoid alarming the spectators whenever a flailing driver jumps from his vehicle, engulfed in invisible flame, the P.A. system must immediately begin playing the Chicken Dance.

Hollywood marriages — The glamour! The romance! The...frequency! The latest (and most dubious) of these highly-temporary celebrity unions is the Ben Affleck/J-Lo marriage! Fortunately, they both seem to realize that this over-hyped, over-exposed romantic endeavor will fail just as quickly as their over-hyped, over-exposed professional endeavors! So, it's a good thing that her people got together with his people to draft this...

PRE-NUPTIAL AGREEMENT

of

JENNIFER LOPEZ,

Superstar SINGER-ACTRESS-DANCER
(a.k.a. "J-Lo," "Jenny from the Block" and "The Latin Liz Taylor") hereafter referred to as "BRIDE"

and

BEN AFFLECK,

Superstar ACTOR-WRITER-PRODUCER
(a.k.a. "People Magazine's Sexiest Man Alive," "Jack Ryan #3" and "Daredevil")
hereafter referred to as "GROOM"

WHEREAS the above-named have surprised no one who reads the tabloids by diving headlong into their umpteenth "This-is-the-One" relationship; and

WHEREAS Las Vegas bookmakers are giving 4-to-1 odds against a J-Lo and Ben marriage lasting even as long as Nicolas Cage and Lisa Marie Presley's; and

WHEREAS their union will create the largest concentration of ego and ambition in the history of show business since BRIDE'S previous relationship with P. Diddy, and the shakiest time bomb of a union ever — at least until Pam Anderson and Kid Rock tie the knot;

BRIDE and GROOM do hereby willingly and knowingly enter into this agreement, to the immense relief of the portion of the entertainment industry who will be depending on them for their livelihood, including producers and reporters at Entertainment Tonight, Access Hollywood, Extra and Inside Edition.

1. PROPERTY brought to marriage by GROOM:

A $12,000,000 per-picture Acting Career (even after such turkeys as Pearl Harbor, Reindeer Games and that dopey car-crash movie with Samuel L. Jackson that even GROOM forgets the title of!)

742,839 lousy movie scripts that were submitted for the Project Greenlight HBO series GROOM created.

Assorted Push, Nevada merchandise that will never hit the shelves because the show was cancelled so quickly.

2. PROPERTY brought to marriage by BRIDE:

A $350,000 Bentley convertible with car horn that plays "My Love Don't Cost a Thing."

An endless stream of free publicity.

That shockingly low cut green print dress from the Grammys and that shockingly sheer Chanel dress from the Oscars.

Assorted "Bling-Bling."

3. TERMS & CONDITIONS:

BRIDE agrees to actually divorce her current husband before entering into 3rd marriage with GROOM.

BRIDE reserves the right to continue her "nights on the town" with famous hip-hop artists (which may or may not involve gunplay) in order to maintain her "street cred."

BRIDE shall make herself available to accompany GROOM to any professional or social engagement — so he doesn't have a repeat of the 1998 Oscars and have to take his mom again.

GROOM shall not smirk nor roll his eyes sarcastically at BRIDE telling the media every FIVE (5) minutes, "I'm just a Puerto Rican girl from the Bronx!"

BRIDE shall not smirk nor roll her eyes sarcastically whenever GROOM claims that he's from working class "South Boston" (instead of Cambridge), that he performs all of his own stunts, and that he's never had any "work" done on his face (meaning he just magically grew a Kirk Douglas-size chin cleft).

BRIDE and GROOM agree to make "surprise" cameo appearance when the other is a guest host on Saturday Night Live.

GROOM will never again force BRIDE to work with his fat, slobby comic book geek director friend, Kevin Smith.

4. Agreed-upon GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE:

BRIDE and/or GROOM falling madly in love with co-star of their next movie.

GROOM uttering anything that even remotely resembles a joke about BRIDE's alleged big ass.

BRIDE taunting GROOM by flapping her arms and "quacking" his last name like the duck in those AFLAC insurance commercials.

GROOM mentioning Anaconda, Enough, Angel Eyes or The Cell; BRIDE mentioning Forces of Nature, Mallrats, Phantoms or Bounce.

BRIDE and/or GROOM adopting a whole new "Strategic Career Plan" which the other spouse just doesn't "fit into" anymore.

5. In the (INEVITABLE) event of a DIVORCE:

BRIDE'S and GROOM'S Publicists shall coordinate the customary Official Statements Declaring the End of Relationship, which shall effusively praise the other party as a "wonderful person" whom BRIDE/GROOM "will always love" (as if there were nothing wrong that might've caused a divorce).

BRIDE and GROOM shall have standing invitations to each other's next wedding or the 2004 Academy Awards — whichever occurs first.

BRIDE and GROOM agree, in advance, to rise above the jealousy and bitterness of divorce and remain the closest of participants in each other's publicity campaigns for their next TWO (2) upcoming projects.

Duke Bissell's TALES OF UNDISPUTED INTEREST

ONE DAY WHILE WATCHING THE SKIES FOR SPACE JUNK I WAS ABDUCTED BY SPACE ALIENS.

NOT BEING FAMILIAR WITH CREATURES FROM A DIFFERENT GALAXY I THINK I MIGHT HAVE INADVERTENTLY INSULTED THEM.

I EVENTUALLY BLACKED OUT AND WOKE TO FIND MYSELF IN MORE COMFORTABLE SURROUNDINGS.

ON THE WAY OUT THE NURSE SUGGESTED I GO TO A SUPPORT GROUP FOR PEOPLE WHO HAVE HAD EXPERIENCES SIMILAR TO MY OWN.

WHEN I SHOWED UP, THE MEETING WAS ALREADY IN FULL SWING.

Everyone knows that hard work is no fun at all. In fact, it's largely considered to be the opposite of fun! Which is why you have to avoid that trap! Remember, you don't have to work some tedious job just because you're "supposed to" or because your father did it. After all, he also married your mom — and you don't want to do that! (For one thing, it's illegal — and for another, she's taken.) But just avoiding work is not enough — you must embrace an entire way of life! So get into your bathrobe, grab a can of Pringles and remember to mutter "yes" whenever anyone asks...

ARE YOU A TERMINAL

SLACK

Do you find it impossible to play miniature golf without a motorized cart?

Is your dog window trained?

Do you often hitchhike at wheelchair ramps to avoid the nasty business of stair climbing?

Have you ever requested a seating change in order to reduce the glare on your Game Boy screen?

TARAAA!
TARAAA!

WHAT THE HELL IS THAT?

RELAX. THEY'RE JUST ANNOUNCING THE START OF THE JOUST.

SORRY, TRUMPETS JUST REMIND ME OF WHEN MY MOM DATED THAT MARIACHI BAND.

COME ON, LET'S CHECK IT OUT.

IS THERE ONE AMONGST YOU BRAVE ENOUGH TO DO BATTLE WITH THE BLACK KNIGHT?

YOU SHOULD DO IT. IT'S A GOOF.

ME? THE BLACK KNIGHT? I DON'T THINK SO!

COME ON KID, PLAY ALONG! I GOT FOUR SHOWS TO GET THROUGH TODAY!

WALTER! THANK GOD! WHAT THE HELL IS A MACE?

IT'S A MEDIEVAL...

WAIT! WHAT ARE YOU EATING? A TURKEY LEG?

YES. IT'S CUSTOMARY.

BACK AT HOME...

GEEZ, KID! ANY IDIOT KNOWS YOU'RE SUPPOSED TO DUCK WHEN FACING A MACE. WELL, ALMOST ANY IDIOT.

SORRY, I CAN'T BE WITH A GUY WHO CAN'T TAKE A SERIOUS BLOW TO THE SKULL. IT'S THE CARNY CODE.

PERFECT.

DID YOU CHECK OUT LADY GUINEVERE'S CANS? DID YA?

QUIET, GRAMPS! OWWW! MY HEAD IS KILLING ME!

I'M SORRY, MONROE. I SHOULD'A HELPED. IF IT'S ANY CONSOLATION, I THOUGHT YOU LOOKED COOL IN YOUR CODPIECE!

WELL, YOU LEARNED ONE THING ABOUT MEDIEVAL TIMES.

Face it: these are some scary, scary times. And if you're like us, you probably haven't gotten much sleep lately. (Then again, if you're really like us, you've also been brought up on charges for downloading what sounded like some harmless pictures off the internet...but that's not important right now.) Anyway, as a public service to our stressed-out, sleep deprived, groggy nation, MAD humbly presents...

SOME PLEASANT That Might SLEEP

Given the thousands of flights in the air on any given day, the chances of you getting stuck in a middle seat between Joan and Melissa Rivers are infinitesimally small.

Oh, what is this man wearing? It looks like he hit the remainder rack at Sears!

And his hair! Was it training day at Supercuts?

No, you aren't some sort of sick, twisted perv — the Olsen twins ARE getting sexier.

You're living proof that even a goof like your dad could have sex at least once in his lifetime — so it's probably gonna happen to you at some point, too.

Your job at McDonald's may suck, but you're still young and have your whole life ahead of you — unlike your 37-year-old manager, who's at the pinnacle of his lousy career.

Even if he continues at his rate of one movie a year, with Woody Allen pushing seventy, you figure that at worst he only has about two dozen lousy flicks left in him.

Jenkins, hurry up with that french fry oil — I need to get home so I can get to work on these lettuce inventories. Man, this paperwork is going to take me all night!

In our 50th Anniversary issue, we printed the final installment of "The Lighter Side," written and illustrated by the late Dave Berg. A legend of the magazine, Dave left behind countless fans, a giant body of work and, most startlingly, a script for the next issue that he had written, but not illustrated! Outraged by Dave's blatant disregard of his deadline, we had no choice but to divide his jokes among the MAD artists and let them illustrate Dave's words however they saw fit.

Description

Hail to the Chief...bartender! That's what you'll be singing as you join fun-loving twin rowdies Jenna and Barbara Bush — America's First Young Ladies of Partying Down — for a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to hang with our nation's most famous underage (but now legal) drinkers in a libatious action codenamed: Operation Open Bar! Enjoy your one-night appointment as Ambassador of Good Times when you command a roving summit meeting at your choice of bars and other hotspots from dusk 'til dawn. You'll be joined by Jen & Barb's own posse — an entourage of Secret Service men — who will whisk you past the lines and velvet ropes right into the hottest clubs around, yet politely look the other way as they drunkenly pick a fight with one of the Coors Light girls, or invite a horde of unseemly guidos to do bodyshots out of their navels. It's a double shot of hardcore partying with a chaser of excitement that represents a clear and present danger to anyone with a liquor license. Travel from Georgetown to Margaritaville and back again in the comfort of your chauffeur-driven bullet-proof party-mobile that won't slow down for anything short of a frantic warning from the back that someone's about to blow chunks!

Winning bidder must schedule night of partying before March, when the media can use the presidential primaries as justification for covering this type of thing as "news." Jenna and Barbara Bush reserve the right to reschedule if date chosen interferes with rush week, homecoming parties, hazings, the Alpha Beta Omega Annual Beerbust, Spring Break in Tijuana, dollar shot night at El Torito, Mardi Gras or schoolwork.

SPY VS SPY

As much as we hate to admit it, NASCAR (don't ask us what it stands for) is big and getting bigger. And if it was a real sport it would be even more popular! But as faux-sports go, NASCAR, aside from golf, badminton and Chinese checkers, is the absolute, undisputed tops, loved by fans from coast to coast. Problem is, some fans love it a bit too much. Could you be one of them? It's quite simple:

YOU'RE AN OFFICIAL OVER-THE-TOP NO-LIFE, W NASCAR

You're the only one in the grandstand (or the press box for that matter) who's aware that the 71 car is using a back-up gas can guy.

A number of right rear tire-changers from several pit crews have restraining orders against you.

With a shard of flying debris from Jeff Gordon's car lodged in your skull, your first words upon coming to are to threaten a malpractice suit if the doctor tries to remove it.

CARD-CARRYING, HACK-JOB FANATIC IF...

You spend $175 to wear the same fireproof team jacket that Dale Jr. wears... to mow your lawn.

You have no qualms about holding up a Slurpee line for 20 minutes while they try to locate the crummy Hut Stricklin commemorative cup you're missing from your collection.

You haven't used your car doors in three years.

NASCAR
FANATIC IF...

You're dead certain that, despite the mega-decibel din of a NASCAR event, your guy can actually hear you screaming driving instructions.

When the time came to choose a casket for your mother, settling on a Budweiser/Chevy paint scheme was a no-brainer.

When asked what two things you'd want with you if you were stranded on a desert island, both would be die-cast collectibles.

You actually believe that a photo of you and some guy named Wally Dallenbach qualifies as a "Celebrity Snap" that will net you a free subscription to MAD.

We thought digital cable, with its instantly accessible descriptions of the programs airing on each channel, would be a welcome improvement to television. What we forgot to consider is that digital cable can't improve the quality of the TV programs themselves! And since cable companies are dependent on the networks for their livelihood, they're about as critical of most shows as George W. Bush is of Dick Cheney's plans for war with Iraq! If you really want the truth about popular TV, we suggest you instead consult...

ABC The Bachelor 9:00 pm – 10:00 pm
In a compressed period of time, a hunky young man dates a lot of shameless, attention-seeking women, then rashly decides he'll marry one of them. Just like Ben Affleck. [CC]

Whether you think Eminem is brilliant or simply disturbing, you have to admit that he's always interesting (AND that he single-handedly revitalized the neglected theme of "wife-dismembering" in song-writing). But while his crazed energy carries over to his music, the most startling thing about his debut movie was just how friggin' bland it was! (Well, that and the fact that Kim Bassinger is still getting work.) In fact, on an edginess scale from "1: Completely Forgettable" to "100: Jaw-Droppingly Shocking," this movie scores a meager...

Yo, I'm Trix Rabbit! People think my screen debut is autobiographical because I portray an angry white rapper from Detroit with no father, a dysfunctional mom and tons of pent-up bitterness. But it's NOT my life story! We made some important changes! In the movie, I wear my wristwatch on my other hand!

8: Mild

ARTIST: HERMANN MEJIA

WRITER: DESMOND DEVLIN

My life was a spiral of hopelessness, punctuated by outbursts of mindless violence! But then, me and Alec Baldwin got divorced! The director of this movie hired me once before, to be the sleazy whore in L.A. Confidential. And now he's making me play a broken-down bimbo. In show biz terms, we've got what's called a "mutually rewarding working partnership!"

I'm the #2 guy in Trix Rabbit's rap crew! Which is about as prestigious a job as being Vice President of Iraq! There are lots of competing black rap crews in this city! But we're different! We're a team of black guys, except the guy in charge is white! That makes us unique in this city! If you don't count the Detroit Lions or the Detroit Pistons!

I hate my ex-girlfriend!
I hate my new girlfriend!
I hate my rivals! I hate
my mom! I hate my house!
I hate my car! I hate my job!
I hate my life! There's no
angrier man than me in the entire history of movies.
Except maybe
Russell Crowe!

Now if you'll excuse
me, I have to spew
some chunks. Damn!
Maybe I'm not cut out
to be a rap star
if I have to puke
my guts out before
walking out on stage.
I should be a bulimic
fashion model instead!

Eminem
stands for freedom
of expression!

Yeah,
too bad
he's only got one expression!

I just know Trix Rabbit's going to make it. There's only one thing
he needs to be a great rapper!

What's that?
bulletproof
vest!

As kids, we were David,
Robert and Jimmy. But now,
he's Futon, he's Cheesy Blob,
and I'm Stink. We all use different names because rejecting society's labels gives us a sense of empowerment!
The fact that we've each got 14 different Visa Cards is just a coincidence!

This is so lame! A media whipping
boy trying to milk
his controversial
persona by playing
the only movie role
he's capable of
acting — himself!
Let's get out of here, Baba Booley!

I'm Dr. Dre, Em's producer! I'm the guy who records his hottest music tracks! And when I say "record," I sure do mean "record"! I just hit my "record" button on original songs by Dido and Aerosmith! But I'm not ashamed!
They do the same thing in Hollywood! Like in this first scene, which has Eminem psyching himself up in a crummy bathroom for his big performance! Great scene! And it was even greater five years ago, in Boogie Nights!

BOOOOOOOOO!!!

*Twinkle twinkle, sister mine
Go to bed with this bad rhyme
Counting sheep will help you sleep
While I beat up Miss Bo Peep!*

That was great, Rabbit! But now, "pleasant dreams" are completely out of the question!

It means I'm only up through the H's in your yearbook! Is our "activity" disturbing you?

No way! All the squeaking and thumping this rickety trailer is making is giving me a GREAT idea for a new backing beat! Keep going until I get the whole song finished in my mind!

That could be a problem! Most rap songs last at least four minutes!

Those rap battles are a waste of time! You gotta hook up with ME, dog! I'm the man who'll take you to the top! We'll jet around the world in style! Money, parties, luxury!

So where are we going now?

Take me to the blood bank! I'll donate another pint so I can buy gas for the car!

This is brutal! Cranking out the same product, over and over and over! Now I know how Jay Leno's writers feel!

Yeah, but you're forgetting the great retirement package! After just 45 years here, you get to keep these cool goggles!

You shot a paintball at that squad car! Wait till they catch your ass!

Especially here in Detroit! First of all, you need to merge out of the "no-shooting" lane!

Quick! Hide that yellow paint!

Yeah, put it in your hair, Trix. You might look good as a blonde!

No matter what I do, somehow I just don't fit in!

Hmmm, let's do the math! An angry white guy under a hood, burning down houses in a minority neighborhood! Yeah, black people should LOVE you!

*I'm enlightened, so I ain't frightened,
When I see a gay man, my butt doesn't tighten!
It don't offend me, Hey, I'm gay-friendly!
Maybe the fairy's got pastel slacks he could lend me!
Even though I'm straight and he's an all-star catcher,
When it comes to bein' nice to faggots I'll outmatch ya!*

*I love Queer As Folk and every Bruce Vilanch joke!
As well as Sir Ian McKellen, and the first three seasons of Ellen!
I wasn't nosy about Rosie or whether Siegfried gets cozy
With Roy! Let 'em all enjoy the ride 'cause deep inside
I know I'm straight, and great and clever
And it's better to be latent than never!*

Oh my God,
I can't believe it!
You are
such a stud!

Sorry, sweetcakes, but I haven't touched you yet!
You're straddling a load-bearing hydraulic cylinder!

Before we do this, tell me one thing — are
you using protection?

Yeah, a hardhat!

You really want to win
the rap battle
this weekend,
huh?

Yeah, under my hardened persona beats the heart of a sensitive and thoughtful poet!
Now, help me think of a good rhyme for "bitch-ass skankbag"!

Pay the rent for your trailer? Are you for real?
Where am I supposed to get 30 dollars?
We're through!

Oh, no! The moment I've been dreading since we started dating 4 days ago! Where can a hottie like me find another fat, selfish, ill-tempered bum to sleep with? Don't leave me!
Stop him, Trix Rabbit!

That
pouting
twerp?
What's
he gonna do to me?

You'll see!
The minute you leave, I'm going to go into the next room and compose a devastating metaphor!

My friend!
My girl!

My
bad!

It's not what you think!
As her modeling agent, I get 10% of her — I just picked the 10% between her belly button and her thighs!

Damn, I can't believe my crew is splitting up! On the other hand, maybe I CAN believe it! Phony-baloney breakups between friends that you KNOW are going to reconcile are a Hollywood staple! It's been the ending of every Hollywood buddy movie for the last 20 years! Except the one with Tom Hanks and the volleyball!

You want to be black? We can help you out — starting with two black eyes!

Ohhhh, yes. I've been waiting for this moment since the MTV Video Awards! You're a real tough guy now, Eminem...for me to poop on!

You don't understand. Ma! I've got a one-in-a-million shot! Just one shot!

You'll make it as a rapper, baby! I just know it!

Aw, rap, shmap! I mean I've got one chance of being the only MTV star of the year whose movie didn't completely and totally suck! Crossroads! The Wedding Planner! Rollerball! Swept Away! Glitter! It's a death march out there!

What I want to know is why my brother raps how "you only get one shot," when that rap contest is held every week! That makes 52 shots a year! Oh well, I guess it makes sense to anybody who dropped out of school before they got up to double-digit addition!

Why did you cheat on me?

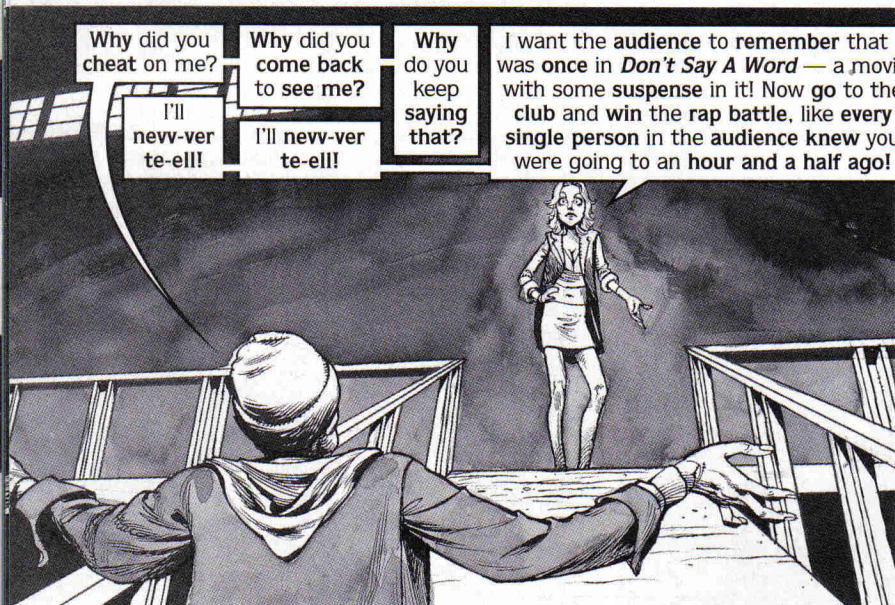

Why did you come back to see me?

Why do you keep saying that?

I want the audience to remember that I was once in Don't Say A Word — a movie with some suspense in it! Now go to the club and win the rap battle, like every single person in the audience knew you were going to an hour and a half ago!

I'll nev-ver te-ell!

I'll nev-ver te-ell!

Dag, Mom was right! I made a face five years ago, and it really did stay that way! I've got the same expression whether I'm having sex or getting beaten up! Suddenly, Jackie Chan looks like a method actor!

Your crew has got no case, this here is my showcase
Your brain is so slow-paced, you'd look at J-Lo's face!
And my tone never changes while I act deranged
But that ain't so strange 'cause I've got zero range!
I'm just playing me, but who else could I be?
Can't you see I'm just an MTV refugee?
So I curse and I whine, but it's all by design
When your standards decline, then your chumps are all mine!

I act pissed and irate, and it sells really great
You relate to my hate and the rhymes I create!
I rap about strife and my witch-bitch ex-wife
But never about your miserable life!
And you think that's unfair? Well, I really don't care!
I ain't one to share and got no tears to spare!
So you had a lousy childhood, too? That sucks!
To heal I've learned what a fortune can do! Big bucks!

Yeah, I'm far above you, but make no mistake
The trick is how to cash in on heartbreak!
Last month, my stretch limo was eight minutes late
And they just raised the taxes on all my real estate!
You say "Slim is just like me, I think we could hang!"
Not when I've got Playmates to bang!
So if you don't like that my story's not true,
Just remember, you loser, who paid to see who?

Who won tonight's contest? Who do you THINK won, dummy? Who's in every friggin' scene of this movie?

Oh, my God! This moment is so much bigger than me! This moment is for Dorothy Dandridge, Lena Horne, Angela Bassett and every nameless, faceless woman of color that now has a chance because this door tonight has been opened! I am so honored, and thank the Academy for choosing me to be the vessel from which this blessing might flow...

Hey! He's stealing my whole Oscar speech!

Why not? He acts blacker than you! Besides, while talented black rappers crank out their garbage thug life movies that go straight to video, Eminem gets the fancy director, the multiplexes and the monster corporate push! White boy makes good? He's sampling Elvis Presley's whole career! So enjoy him now! A fat, drugged-out Eminem in Vegas is NOT gonna be a pretty sight!

A Revolutionary Scientific Breakthrough Let Us Create DIAMOND-ERSATZ!

A Faux Diamond So Real, People Will Mistake it for a Real Diamond from a Mile Away!

A Diamond-Ersatz jewel is the result of a new and exclusive process in which rare materials must be extracted from the earth — rare materials like Coke, Snapple and beer bottles, which have been carefully aged in earth-covered landfills and recovered by skilled artisans who practice the ancient art of operating a bulldozer and steam shovel. Once these precious treasures are extracted from the soil, they are cleansed and then melted at a constant temperature above 5,000°F to slowly crystallize (as well as remove the labels) and form the rare material needed to create a Diamond-Ersatz jewel.

A Diamond-Ersatz jewel is not a mass-produced product! Instead, it is finely crafted by individuals, working in huge numbers, in giant factories, turning out mammoth quantities, one by one!

Each DIAMOND-ERSATZ Jewel Has the Feel, the Smell and the Taste of a Real Diamond!

A national network news team asked appraisers in New York's famed Diamond District to compare Diamond-Ersatz jewels to traditionally mined diamonds. After several bottles of expensive champagne (which will someday be turned into Diamond-Ersatz jewels), they agreed they could not tell the difference between a real diamond and a Diamond-Ersatz! Or even the difference between a real diamond and a pearl necklace, for that matter! How impressive is that?

Movie Stars and TV Personalities Are Proud to Show Off Their DIAMOND-ERSATZ Jewels in Public!

Yes, stars like J.Lo, Madonna, Anna Nicole Smith, Halle Berry, Miss Diamond-Ersatz and "Weird Al" Yankovic are proud to be seen showing off their Diamond-Ersatz jewels.*

(*You have our 100% assurance that at least one of the above celebrities has been seen wearing a Diamond-Ersatz jewel!)

Read this excerpt from a letter we recently paid our PR agency to write!

"I have been in the jewelry business for years. I deal in jewels that cost millions of dollars. At one time I was even responsible for hanging a picture of the world famous 'Hope Diamond'! The first time I saw a Diamond-Ersatz jewel, I couldn't believe my eyes. It looked every bit as bright and shiny and two dimensional as the picture of the Hope Diamond I had hung! Over the years I have found that Diamond-Ersatz jewels are so close to a mined diamond that I am able to charge a great many of my vision-impaired customers the exorbitant price they would have paid if, indeed, I had sold them a genuine mined diamond, instead of a Diamond-Ersatz jewel!"

A True DIAMOND-ERSATZ Jewel Meets the Exacting Standards of the 4 C's:

1. Color: Almost all diamonds are transparently clear. The rarest diamonds, the ones that command the highest prices, are completely transparent. A Diamond-Ersatz jewel is even more transparent than our claims, and that's guaranteed!

2. Clarity: Very few mined diamonds are flawless. Most contain some kind of imperfection. That's what makes a "perfect" diamond so rare! You can search far and wide, even spend millions of dollars, yet you'll never find a more flaw-free diamond than a Diamond-Ersatz jewel! Looking through a Diamond-Ersatz jewel is almost like looking through a hunk of ordinary glass!

3. Cut: Refers to both the shape and the precise arrangements of a diamond's facets. An improperly cut diamond will have less fire, less brilliance, less value. Each Diamond-Ersatz jewel is carefully cut by a skilled craftsman using the sharpest chisel and the most delicate of sledge hammers!

4. Carat Weight: A carat is the measurement of a diamond's size. But beware! When you buy a one, two or three carat ring from one of our competitors, are you really getting what you paid for? Or have they added water or fillers to make their diamond look bigger? A Diamond-Ersatz jewel is guaranteed to be a 100% Diamond-Ersatz jewel. There are no fillers, no fat, no cholesterol and no caffeine! No other diamond, real or faux, would dare make that claim!
