

BET MEDDLER

In "What's Pete Rose Betting on This Month?" in the Fundalini Pages in MAD #440, you mention the following: "More contagious, mad cows or SARS monkeys?" It should be noted that SARS was not spread by monkeys, but by civet cats. Civets are a ferret-like animal that the Chinese like to eat raw or at least very very rare. Not cooking the meat allows the SARS-causing bacteria in the intestines to remain active. The Chinese government banned the sale of civet cats, but the Chinese restaurant owners refused to stop serving them, and the people refused to stop eating them! So, the government ordered 40,000 civet cats to be killed and disposed of

TOWN AND OUT

Llive in Poughkeepsie. New York and have been a subscriber for a little over a year. In this short time. I have noticed something disturbing: you have made fun of my hometown on TWO separate occasions - once on the Letters Page in MAD #437 and in the "Faketrix Retarded" in MAD #436 I want to know what you have against my city! What has Po Town ever done to you?

Joshua Cohen, Poughkeepsie, NY

Waffle Cohen - What do we have against Poughkeepsie? Well, nothing really. We make fun of it because we're lealous We're stuck in stupid New York City where nothing ever happens. Just looking at the events calenda for your town, we see that it is a hotbed of activity. Why, we read that the play Plaza Suite is being performed at the Cunneen Hockett Arts Center! Just try finding theater like that in the Rig Applet And as sports fans, it kills us that you live in a city synonymous with sports dynasties like baseball's Poughkeepsie Pioneers. That's why we lash out at your teeming metropolis! We're sorry - we'll go back to mocking Paramus! -Ed.

AMERICAN IDOL FOR DUMMIES

I was reading the article "MAD's Suggestions for Improving American Idol" in MAD #440 and noticed that the dummy in the ventriloquist's lap closely resembled "???" from the "MAD's Photo Personals Gallery: The Men"(MAD #432). Am I right? If so, how many more times do you plan on using him in sketches? P.S. I am not a "???" stalker!

But as good as he was caricaturing the rich, famous and recognizable, I'll remember George the best for the way he refused to pretty-up his drawings of regular folks. A rotating cast of supporting rodents include Rush Limburger, who loves to talk so much that he doesn't mind the intestinal

THE IRONIC* BREEZE SILENT AIR PURIFIER WORKS 24-7!

I It's silent! The Ironic Breeze is the world's quietest nonpowered air nurifier: plugging it in and turning it on however will add some noticeable noise

2 It works!

Tests at a leading university which we endowed with a $500,000 grant show that the Ironic Breeze trans particles better than any other competing air purifiers whose manufacturers didn't give them a $500,000 grant.

3. No filters!

Never buy or change a filter again! Simply wipe the blades clean with any industrial strength corrosive compound using standard EPA and OSHA hazardous material guidelines, It's that easy!

4. Cleans 24-7!

The Ironic Breeze cleans about 24 hours out of every 7 days - more than ample time for you to shut it off and let it cool down to prevent overheating and possible catastrophic fire in your home

5. Save money!

The price may seem extraordinarily high compared to other air purifiers, but when compared to the cost of buying and erecting a private bio-dome, it's far less expensive!

Here's how it works:

· needs the in-depth sports coverage you simply can't get from reading an entire section of the newspaper every single day of the week,

A TYPICAL READER

- just can't get enough multiple covers.
 hasn't caught on that the TV Guide Channel, digital cable and internet listings have made the print edition utterly obsolete.
- might have squandered precious time on unworthy programming if it weren't for TV Guide's trained "experts" picking out The Tuxedo as Saturday night's "Guilty Pleasure."
- really needs help to know when to cheer and when to jeer.
- picked it up to flip through in the checkout line, accidentally put it down among groceries.

A TYPICAL AND READER

- is, ironically, a game amateur.
- demands the objective, unbiased coverage of a magazine completely beholden to advertisers.
- appreciates having a magazine to reinforce all the latest gaming information that's all over the internet.
- engages with friends in heated, intensely mindless
- debates over the relative merits of GamePro versus Electronic Gaming Monthly.

A TYPICAL READER

- likes to read about wrestlers' fake thoughts and feelings, to put their fake battles into proper dramatic context.
 - defends the integrity of pro wrestling as a macho sport by pointing out the physically demanding choreography and potentially risky stunts, not realizing that he's using the same argument as cheerleaders.
 - still wonders how pro wrestlers take all those chair blows to the head, considering how many stitches he got after trying it in the backyard.
 - · becomes totally disillusioned when introduced to real wrestling in P.E. class.

A TYPICAL MAD READER

- still can't figure out just what those spies are fighting about.
- thinks it's brilliant that a different celebrity's face is replaced by Alfred's, month after month.
- is utterly shocked whenever TV satires DON'T end with the cast of another hit show popping up to comment on how the show in question is similar to theirs.
- is convinced that replacing the names of movie and TV stars with vaguely demeaning words that sound similar is the ultimate height of cleverness.

THE DRAB FIVE DEPT. Unless they make you a ton of money! Like the currently-hot stereotype that all homosexuals are so hip, organized and savvy that they can fix the lives of any heterosexual on the planet! (Much nicer than the damaging stereotype that all MAD writers are lactose intolerant!) So while TV producers are raking

I'm Fed, the resident gourmet! I've taught our skittish "straights" to prepare sushi, caviar, seaweed, even goose liver pâté! But the first thing I always teach them is how to boil a not of water. Not for any meal, but because everything in their filthy apartments usually needs to be sterilized!

I'm Thum. I get the dream job of cleaning up this guy's sty of an apartment! So while the others get to go to shops and boutiques, I have to sift through his filth and work like a dog! At least, until the carpenters, painters and plumbers arrive to do the actual work!

I've gotten etters from drag queens asking that I "tone it down a bit" I'm also the break-out star of this show, but my sassy gay attitude has lead to some hate mail - on the upside, it's all from the guy who plays "Jack" on Will & Grace telling me to stop stealing his schtick!

GET USED TO IT! I'm Stylin', the style guru! I'm Gai, the culture expert! Every member of the Drab S
