STOP, BOOK AND LISTEN

I went to my local library today and decided to get a few MAD magazines since I was saving some money to get presents for Christmas. I went over to the magazine section and the magazines were gone! I went to the front desk and asked the librarian what happened to them and she said, "What do you mean?" She walked over to the section and looked around but there was only the new issue of MAD on the rack. She said "I'm not sure where they went" and walked back to the front desk. I was depressed that I wouldn't get my daily dose of MAD(ness) so I started looking at other magazines. I found a small box labeled "U.S. history" in the corner and when I checked inside I found the magazines! I never realized MAD was so influential! Hopefully if you post this I can have a piece of U.S. history for myself.

Tad Becker, Ottawa, IL

Tad To The Bone — Yeah, that IS a weird place for MAD to be, and yet, oddly enough, that's exactly where it should be, according to the Dewey Decimal system. That's why you'll find MAD Kids in the "Automotive Repair" section and MAD Classics in "Gay/Lesbian Studies." You don't want to know where they keep Al Jaffee's Snappy Answers to Stupid Questions books! —Ed.

WEDDED DISS

For our wedding invitation, we used art fashioned after MAD's Fold-in. We thought the staff would enjoy seeing it — our best to Al Jaffee!

Cindy Hodgson and Barry Halkin, Havertown, PA

Cindy and Jones and Barry the Cable Guy — Congratulations on your wedding! We can't wait to see your Spy Vs. Spy-themed divorce announcement! —Ed.

SHUT THE PUCK UP

As you know, hockey season has begun, and I'm nuts for hockey. There isn't a thing in the world I'd do without it. But my question is, when are you going to have any funny comic strips or something that relate to hockey? You guys always seem to come up with other things that relate to movies and the hottest things on the market, not to mention the presidential election. But I'm getting so sick and tired of hearing about it! My favor to ask from you guys is, could you please put some hockey comics or print some hockey jokes?

Travis Mathe, Plover, Wisconsin

Mathe Lab — Here's a hockey joke for you:

Knock Knock!

Who's there?

Hockey!

Hockey Who?

Hockey is a terrible sport. Maybe that's why MAD never does any articles on it! —Ed.

THE HAPPY COUPLE

STUDY AS SHE GOES

I am in the 5th grade and in Hebrew school. Could you please please please help by giving me an excuse to stop Hebrew school or regular school for that matter? P.S. Mazel tov!

Zach Segal, Palo Alto, CA

Zach Of All Trades — That's easy!
For regular school, just say
"My dog ate my homework."
For Hebrew school, try "My dog noshed on my homework!"
Enjoy the free time! —Ed.

ALFRED E. LOOK-A-LIKE

Allow me to introduce my cousin Jed. He has been ridiculed by his extended family for the past 10 years for his resemblance to our illustrious mascot. Hopefully getting his mug in the Letters and Tomatoes department will earn him the place in history he deserves.

Curtis Cook,
Ontario, Canada

Common Curtis —
We're almost positive getting his mug printed here will keep him
pretty much unknown and unpopular, which is the place in history
he deserves! —Ed.

MAD ABOUT MAD MAGAZINE

When folks ask me
what is my favorite magazine?
I turn and run away.
For if I told them the awful truth,
they would think I was surely deranged!

For I am a 62-year-old lady who recently graduated from a well-known college.
I should have better taste
after four years of knowledge!

But I'm mad for MAD Magazine and will always be.
So keep it coming because your number #1 fan since 1956 is me!

Irene Brodsky, Proud 62-year-old recent graduate,
Brooklyn College, Class of 2007

It Ain't Easy Being Irene — You should be very proud of yourself, but we're going to guess that your major wasn't in poetry!
See ya on the unemployment line! —Ed.

MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

Here is a photo of our recent encounter with John Hodgman ("PC" in the Mac ads). He was signing his book, More Information Than You Require, in an Atlanta bookstore. Imagine his horror as I explained to him how he made the top spot on your list of "50 Worst Things About Advertising" (MAD #482).

James Klausmeyer,
Roswell, GA

Santa Klausmeyer —
Looking at your picture,
he isn't as annoying
without that gooball
Mac guy from the commercials standing next to him. We'd write more, but our PC keeps freezing! Congratulations on your three-year subscription! —Ed.

JOHN AND JAMES CONTEMPLATING THE WORST THINGS ABOUT ADVERTISING

A REAL ROB STORY

My mom's (AND MY!!!!) car got stolen. Two days later, I got my first MAD magazine. It made me laugh so hard I forgot that I had to use my rental or bike if I wanted to get around. Keep being hated by everyone who isn't funny.

Nick Papajick, Edwardsville, IL

Big Papa — Wait, we're confused. Your car got stolen and then you got an issue of MAD? Was that part of your insurance settlement? You may want to look into Geico — they probably would have gotten you an issue of MAD Classics as well! Thanks for writing and happy biking! —Ed.

MAD BLURBS

You wouldn't suspect it from his success as an adult, but award-winning children's book author Jon Scieszka read MAD when he was a kid! In his new book, Knucklehead, he shares stories about growing up — including trying to explain what MAD is to the displeased nuns who taught him in grade school...

Well, the other character in our book is also kind of like the spies in "Spy vs. Spy." They are always tricking each other by — yes, Sister? No, Sister. It's not a TV show. No, Sister. It's not a cartoon. They are little stories without any words. Yes, Sister. In a magazine. MAD magazine. I see, Sister. Probably sinful, too. So. Um. Well. Ahhh. The characters in this book...aren't like anything else I know.

So I learned not to mention TV or MAD magazine or cartoons in school ever again. But I still think they were some of the best and funniest and craziest stories around.

STRIP TEASED

Sharon Helms-Dulin of Reidsville, NC sent us this hilarious, yet poorly spell-checked, comic strip about our mascot Alfred E. NEUMAN. You know, we'd expect this kind of sloppiness from "Funky Winkerbean," but not you, "Frank & Ernest"...not you.

MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS II

David Wain (Stella, Role Models and The State) dropped by my previous workplace while editing his movie trailer for The Ten. Although Mr. Wain was ready to bounce to his next A-List, Hollywood meeting, he had time to pose with MAD.

Kenneth Mok, Burbank, CA

Mok It To Me—Is that a Blue-tooth on his ear? Wow! He really is a big mover and shaker! And by the by, why is it your "previous workplace"? Did you get fired for constantly harassing celebrities to take pictures with you and your MAD? Congrats on your three-year subscription! —Ed.

POSITIVE ASPECTS OF THE ECONOMIC MELTDOWN

- 19 Your excuse to mooching is bigger than you don't have any money will, for once, be believable.
 20 You can take your credit cards on a no-holds-barred, take-no-prisoners shopping spree, secure in the knowledge that by the time the bills are due, most of the stores will have gone out of business.
 21 Just the sight of pompous stock brokers on the unemployment line is worth a dozen Depressions.
 22 Your suggestion to your parents that they should have Angelina Jolie adopt your kid brother will at last be given serious consideration.
 23 Your cash-strapped parents won't be so argumentative when you tell them you want to drop out of college.

Ways to Make Sure You Don't Lose Your Job in These Tough Times!

- 2. Be agreeable. Laugh at everything your boss says. Be sure to listen carefully, though, just in case.

3. Loudly comment, "I don't know what I'd do if I lost this job. I'd probably come back with a shotgun and blow off the head of every freakin' person who works here!"
4. Always be conscious of your boss' needs. In the men's room, hand your boss a paper towel and brush off any lint you might see on his jacket. This shows respect and it's excellent practice if you get fired and have to get a job as a men's room attendant!
5. Being part of a professional organization can raise your profile and increase your stature in a company. Joining the mafia, however, is never a good idea.

SPECIAL GIVEAWAY AND CONTEST!

ALL THE
COOL KIDS ARE DOING IT!

By The Usual Gang of Idiots at MAD Magazine

The Usual Gang of Idiots at MAD Magazine is gleefully proud to present some of the wackiest, most satirical, and funniest art from their archives in a brand-new format. This collection of posters gives millions of MAD fans hilarious prints in one innovative, oversized package (imagine a really big postcard book) for the same price as two or three individual posters! The best illustrations from over 50 years of the magazine's storied history are beautifully reproduced in full color, from "Spy vs. Spy" to the works of Don Martin to pieces from the MADropolitan Museum of Art. Sized perfectly for standard framing or for hanging on a dormroom wall, these posters are a MADgical addition to anyone's decorating plan.

Be one of the first 200 to buy the MAD Magazine Poster Book at chroniclebooks.com/madposterbook and receive an original #166 "Finger" issue (pulled from newsstands in 1974!) with Certificate of Authenticity signed by Editor-in-Chief John Ficarra.

CHRONICLE BOOKS

Sure there was drama, sure there was controversy, sure there was history in the making, but in Election '08, for one thing there was more of than anything else was statistics — dull, dry, mind-numbingly unnecessary statistics! The news channels' efforts to get into the minds of the voting public (and fill hundreds of hours of airtime) led to a landslide of...

LAME ATTEMPTS BY TV TO EXPLAIN THE 2008 PRESIDENTIAL VOTE

AMONG PEOPLE WHO VOTED FOR OBAMA/BIDEN...

12% TV viewers who thought the black President on 24 did a pretty good job.

8% Job seekers who had huge gaps on their résumés and hope that with Obama as President, a lack of experience will become fashionable.

22% FOX News Channel viewers who were hoping an Obama victory would give Colmes the courage to finally punch out Hannity.

AMONG PEOPLE WHO VOTED AGAINST OBAMA/BIDEN...

26% Churchgoers who couldn't understand how Obama could pal around with a minister who hates all of America instead of just its gays, feminists and liberals.

31% People who claimed that they aren't voting against Obama because he's black, but who voted against Obama because he's black.

9% Sensitive souls who felt uncomfortable voting against a man because he's part African-American, but who felt totally comfortable voting against him because he's totally Muslim.

4% Guilt-ridden Republicans who wanted to make amends for George W. Bush.

11% Oprah viewers hoping to make her so insanely happy she might give everyone in America a new car.

.0000003%
Undecided voters persuaded by Barbra Streisand's endorsement.

5% Traditionalists who questioned Obama's judgment for not stepping aside in favor of someone closer to core Democratic principles, like John "I can't keep it in my pants" Edwards or Hillary "My husband can't keep it in his pants" Clinton.

2% D.C. cabbies who feared the most powerful person in the world might be that nice, well-dressed black man they refused to pick up so many times.

14% TV viewers annoyed at Biden for not having the guts to appear in a crappy SNL sketch like the other candidates.

AMONG PEOPLE WHO VOTED FOR MCCAIN/PALIN...

8% Deluded debate watchers who still think that Sarah Palin was winking only at them.

13% Homeless people who hoped that once McCain was in the White House they could move into one of the multitude of houses he forgot he owns.

21% Schizophrenics who could relate to someone who's an "experienced insider" one day and a "maverick" the next.

17% Sitcom lovers, already used to watching the exploits of a dumpy, bumbling schlub paired up with a foxy-looking mate.

AMONG PEOPLE WHO VOTED AGAINST MCCAIN/PALIN...

17% Pissed-off Ohio homeowners who didn't like that their plumber was hanging around with McCain instead of snaking their clogged toilets.

28% Late night talk show fans who didn't want to suffer through four years of old-age jokes.

32% Voters who entered the voting booth intending to pull the lever for Tina Fey and Darrell Hammond, but when they didn't see their names, voted for Obama.

4% Southerners all tingly with nostalgia when they heard Palin's husband is part of a group that wants Alaska to secede from the United States.

30% Enthusiastic Obama supporters who had the word "change" ringing around in their heads so much, they got confused and changed their vote to McCain.

.0000003%
Undecided voters persuaded by Chuck Norris' endorsement.

9% Dumped divorcees who hate any man who has a hot-looking second wife.

10% Sickened people who couldn't get the image of a pit bull wearing lipstick out of their heads.

Comedy is a tough business. Take it from us — as a comedy magazine, we know a thing or two about comedy! Actually, we know just a thing about comedy — that it's a tough business. We also know that stand-up comedy is particularly tough! Okay, so technically, we know roughly one-and-a-half things about comedy. Still, in an effort to learn more, we fully intend to read...

MAD'S 12 SUREFIRE TIPS FOR STAND-UP COMICS

WRITER: JEFF KRUSE
ARTIST: RICK TULKA
COLORIST: RYAN FLANDERS

1 Keep all political humor current

2 Observational humor only works when it hasn't been observed 73 trillion times before.

3 Remember the cardinal rule of comedy: "Brevity is the soul of wit."

4 Carve out a unique niche for yourself that no one else has tried.

5 Leave the feminine comedy to women.

6 It's possible to be too creative

7 Racial jokes are racial jokes, no matter how you try to soften them.

8 Don't underestimate your audience's intelligence.

9 When advertising for your show, it's generally best to only include positive critic quotes.

10 Simply throwing out pop culture references with no context isn't going to work.

11 Self-deprecating humor is usually successful, but don't go overboard with it.

12 Doing comedy for a cause is great, but choose the cause carefully.

MAD's Sucky twilight Outtakes

I'll just stand here and look cool. No one needs to know I got my sleeve caught in the car door.

If he does that stupid "coin behind the ear" trick one more time, I'm gonna shove a stake through his heart!

Dude, I'm over here. You need to face facts — the laser eye surgery didn't work!

Mmmm — there's nothin' like peeing outdoors!

Geez — these American-made cars are so crappy, you can't even smash a mosquito on them!

Stupid white fog! Vampire farts are the worst!

My...car...keys!
Noooooooooooo!

Wow — we have so much in common. We both love "Rear Defrost"!

It's not your fangs that frighten me — it's those freakishly large eyebrows!

Look. I love my new hat — and you look great in the jersey. I just can't believe you killed Yogi Berra!

Yeah, yeah this would also be a great spot for a treehouse...Now can you please just take me home?

An important message from MAD's Director of Business & Development,

JEFFREY LOZENGE

It was once said, "Don't shoot until you see the whites of their eyes." It was also once said, "Don't shoot!" And it was also once said, "Please pass the chicken gravy."

My point is that people say a lot of things. And I say a lot of things too, for example, everything I just said. Which brings me to MAD — yes, MAD — the magazine whose time is and was and continues to be — also says a lot of things. But the less said about that the better.

Someone else who wasn't me once said, "Give me liberty or give me death." Whoa Nellie! (This is me talking again, not that other guy who wasn't me.) Who wouldn't choose liberty over death? That's a no-brainer!

"Give me liberty or give me MAD!" That's a tougher one. But thanks to the brave soldiers of the American Revolution you don't have to decide!

Inauguration Day in Washington, D.C. — a time for democracy to renew itself. A time for hope, optimism and change. And also a time for simmering rivalries, past slights and petty disagreements to fester in one's mind, creating bitterness, hatred, and, in some cases, the seeds for the next presidential election. Eh, you don't have to be a mind reader to see where this introduction is going...

MAD EXPOSES WHO'S THINKING WHAT AT THE OBAMA INAUGURATION

Wow, who knew all you had to do to get elected was have presence, charisma and a personality?

Oh no! It's the Green Goblin! Oh, wait...it's just Harrier Miers.

I hate to be cynical, but I still see a way the GOP could steal this one!

He still hasn't said how he'd tax my non-existent fantasy business!

Maybe I should have gotten this dress cleaned before I wore it again!

One black guy, all alone and dominating 500 white guys? Been there, done that!

Wait, which one is Obama again?

I got cochlear implants for this? Oh, Christ, when will the OxyContin kick in??

They may have the White House and the House, but that's still nine fewer houses than we have!

Big deal! This can't hold a candle to the 1923 Coolidge inauguration!

I can't believe a terrorist from the country of Africa is President!

What a moment! To use an appropriate metaphor, it's as historic as a blind wolverine trying to win the big go-cart race!

Goddamn nice of the RNC to get us tickets to this!

Wow, what a crowd. If only this many people watched 30 Rock...

I just hope that putz Biden doesn't ask me to stand up!

When you say or do stuff that adults don't like or understand (which, let's face it, is all the time) they're quick to criticize and let you know how much more "evolved" they were back when they were "your age." The truth, of course, is that they were far more moronic than you ever were or will be — and you'd be doing them a BIG favor by pointing that out! So remember:

When Adults Say...

Remind Them...

When Adults Say...

I respected my elders when I was your age...

Remind Them...

...Back then, it was still okay to whip the living crap out of kids.

When Adults Say...

When I was young we didn't sit around all night and play video games...

Remind Them...

... They had to stand around all night and play video games.

When Adults Say...

You don't appreciate all that our generation has done for yours...

Remind Them...

...You would, but you're not sure that global warming, war and crushing student loans are actually good things.

When Adults Say...

In the old days we didn't spend all our time holed up in our room with the TV or computer...

Remind Them...

...Their bedroom "entertainment system" consisted of a 14-inch black and white television and a transistor radio with an earpiece.

When Adults Say...

In my day we didn't wear our pants around our butts...

Remind Them...

... That's because it would've interfered with the noble sweep of their bellbottoms.

When Adults Say...

Years ago we didn't waste our nights staring at "the MTV"...

Remind Them...

... They were too busy wasting time staring at the "multiverse" in their lava lamps.

When Adults Say...

We didn't spend every single night reading about stupid celebrities...

Remind Them...

...Tiger Beat came out just once a month.

When Adults Say...

Today's video games are pointless and dumb...

Remind Them...

...They spent two years of their life absorbed by the hair-raising thrill of Pong.

WHAT THE HECK IS THE DIFFERENCE?

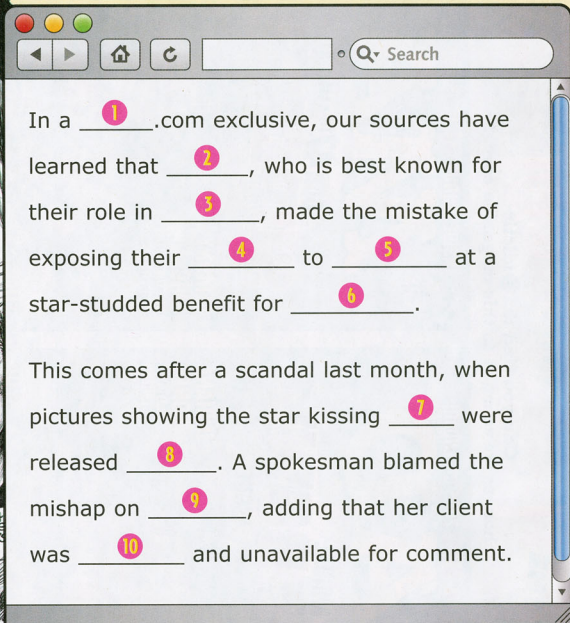

Can you find the 9 idiotic changes we've made to this magazine cover?

- 1) Alfred's head is right-side-up. 2) His face mask is flipped around. 3) All three stripes on the helmet are now red. 4) There's an extra hole in the bowling ball. 5) There's an extra seam in the middle of Alfred's pants. 6) Alfred has a Spy tattoo on his left arm. 7) There's an extra seam in the middle of Alfred's pants. 8) The closest yard marker is missing on the field. 9) "The Incrciblebs" is misspelled.

When picking a psychic, you have to be careful. If you rush into things, you might end up with a phoney baloney fortune teller that's completely full of crap! But if you do your research, you'll wind up with a phoney baloney fortune teller who's just mostly full of crap! It's a delicate science to pick the frauds from the superfrauds, and MAD is happy to provide these:

... um, then Your big brother, Mike, thinks about starting a band, but Your kooky neighbor, um, I can't remember his name—but it's NOT Mr. Roper—he causes a stink, and then...

He predicts what you know, for a fact, to be an entire episode of Growing Pains.

Gosh, I wonder if that's Aunt Helen coming through?

His trance state involves a lot of snoring.

TELL-TALE SIGNS THAT YOU'VE GOT A REALLY BAD PSYCHIC

You notice the crystal ball has 3 holes in it and a "Bowlaroo" logo.

Your lucky numbers are sensed through the energy your credit card emits.

...oh Yes, and take comfort in knowing she's experiencing absolutely zero static cling!

An article of clothing from your missing cousin reveals she is somewhere Downy fresh.

Wow. So I'm gonna have to pee soon, huh?

Yep.

She can only predict twenty minutes into the future.

I don't know where it comes from-I just know-I'm talking four, five bucks a gallon.

She keeps getting a strong image of you paying more at the pump.

hugngh... graaack... guhhhcka... hutah...

All the dead people you want to contact mysteriously "have laryngitis."

Oook Not good. You just pulled yourself a Giancarlo Alvarado... GASP!!! with a Taylor Tedgarden Rising!

Your reading is done with baseball cards instead of Tarot cards.

The news media typically reviews a new President's performance after his first 100 days in office, using it as a barometer to measure the Commander-in-Chief's effectiveness. We say pshaw! (And that's not so easy to say!) MAD believes we can find out everything we'll need to know about Barack by reviewing...

The First 100 Minutes of the Obama Presidency

75-78: Sneak out to Rose Garden for a quick smoke

79: Deny Bill Clinton's request for round-the-clock Lincoln Bedroom access

80: Submit Tom Daschle's name as a contestant on Deal or No Deal as way of helping balance budget

81-82: Get Michelle to ditch J. Crew and start dressing more like Beyoncé

83: Sign executive order authorizing Delta Force to cut off Jesse Jackson's nuts

84: Just to be different, appoint staff members based on intellect and competence

85: Rescind Bush order to drill for oil in Arlington National Cemetery

86: Send Dreams From My Father screenplay to Denzel Washington

87: Set alarm for 3 a.m. in order to crank call Hillary

88: Politely decline Xzibit's offer to "Pimp My Presidential Ride" by adding spinning rims

89: Remove dunking stool, iron maiden and other "conversation pieces" from Cheney's office

90: Pardon Mike Myers for The Love Guru

91-99: Do a little blow

100: Call John McCain, see if he's still interested in the job
