A NOTE FROM THE EDITOR

In the interest of fairness, the current staff of MAD feels it cannot claim responsibility for all 500 issues of MAD that have been published. We proudly stand on the garbage heap created by those who have gone before us — most notably, editors Harvey Kurtzman, Al Feldstein, Nick Meglin, and Janette Kahn and art directors John Putnam and Lenny Brenner. Also culpable are the 704 writers and artists, collectively known as "the Usual Gang of Idiots" who have contributed their "talent" to MAD since its inception in 1952. With this editorial note we acknowledge and thank each and every one of them (in lieu of some sort of bonus check!) JF

Having a smoking section in a restaurant makes about as much sense as having a peeling section in a swimming pool!

A MAD Factoid... The original Norman Mingo painting of Alfred E. Neuman recently sold at Heritage Auctions for $203,150 (cheapp!), the highest price ever paid for a single piece of comic art in the United States.

AN HEIR-HEADED PROBLEM

I want to congratulate the entire MAD family for reaching what is truly a publication milestone, its 500th issue. But more than that, I want to thank the MAD family for allowing me to grow up with them in my 61 years (and their 56 years). Throughout the years, I have savored MAD's humor and satire, as only MAD could editorialize. From buying missing issues on eBay to complete my collection, to attending a Sotheby's auction with other MAD fanatics and browsing through William M. Gaines' memorabilia, I will always remember how much MAD has meant to me, even though my efforts to convince the U.S. Postal Service to create an Alfred E. Neuman stamp have failed. Even now I continue to buy two copies, one to read, fold-in and use as a coaster for my morning coffee, and the other to store in my collection. My only question is how to convince my daughters, once I'm gone, to keep my treasured collection, rather than putting it up on eBay.

David Lubin, Tampa, FL

Jiffy Lubin — The better question may be, once your daughters realize how much your MAD collection is worth — how to keep them from murdering you so they can inherit that fortune? Enjoy your sleepless nights! —Ed.

MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

STEVEN IS SEALED
WITH A KISS

As you can see, this Celebrity Snap is with the rock band Kiss. It was taken after the concert we went to. My friend and I met them backstage (we had to pay for the backstage experience.) I just happened to bring along a MAD in my bag. Ace Frehley is holding it, but they couldn't sign it because of time constraints. But I am very happy they allowed us to pose with it and Ace even held it.

Steven Ferrara, Stratford, CT

Steve of Destruction — Just to recap, you had to PAY to see them backstage, and then they wouldn't even sign the issue for you? Sounds like they really take care of their fans! And by the way, what time constraints?!? Did Gene Simmons have to run out so he could make another sex tape of him cheating on the mother of his children? We think it's worth noting that the guy holding the issue is clearly the least happy of the four band members. No one likes a sad clown, Ace Frehley! No one. —Ed.

THE BIG EASEL

In MAD #357 (May 1997) you teased AOL for mailing software diskettes to everyone on the planet. Your article apparently shamed them into reforming, because they started mailing software CDs to everyone on the planet instead! That gave me an idea: to use all those junk mail CDs to create some MAD artwork. I needed lots of CDs, so I saved junk mail CDs from AOL and other companies for over 10 years! Finally, last month, I had enough CDs. Over the last three weekends, I finished the design, set up a huge dropcloth as my canvas and created a 400-square-foot mosaic out of 1,500 junk mail CDs. I call it AOLfred E. Neuman and I submit it in honor of the 500th issue of MAD. On the bottom left are MAD issues #100, #200, #300 and #400.

Neil Cuadra, Los Angeles, CA

Touchy Nelly — Wow! You just blew our mind. You used junk mail from AOL to create a piece of "art" which became junk mail to AOL! The circle is now complete! We look forward to your rendition of Spy Vs. Spy made entirely of Walpoke coupons! —Ed.

A MAD Factoid!...MAD once offered straight jackets for sale to its readers

MAD FANS OF THE MONTH

So there I was, 10 years old, going through the family trash can when, to my astonishment, I found Ernie Kovacs staring me in the face. I detected a tear in his eye as he realized where he was heading. Yes, by trashing MAD, my dad was doing to me what my grandfather had done to him when he gave away his baseball cards and electric trains. Fortunately, I stopped this travesty and thus began my journey with MAD. Since then, I have traveled the country in an effort to collect all 498 issues of MAD. I have been successful in that endeavor. At the same time, I have had the pleasure of meeting William and Annie Gaines, plus many of the Usual Gang of Idiots. The enclosed photo documents some of my collection.

Joshua Hecht, Hamden, CT

JOSH AND HIS "COLLECTION"

At the end of December, our teachers assigned us to do a history project on someone who somehow changed history. We thought about it seriously and we came to a conclusion — to do our project on the founding father of MAD, William M. Gaines.

DYLAN AND DALTON WITH THEIR "HISTORY" PROJECT

Thanks to all three of you for your years of fandom — we hope this fulfills your dream and you can now close this unfortunate chapter and get your lives back on track! —Ed.

MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™

I do not go to church very much, usually only on holidays because my family is not very religious. But over February vacation, my grandmother paid me and my family a visit. She thinks that we are religious and we always go to church. So when she comes up, my mom drags me and my older brother there. I think it is really boring so I brought along a few comics from my MAD collection to read. We were halfway through the service when my grandma saw what I was reading. She grabbed it from me and gave me a disgusted look. When we got home, my grandma and my mom got in a big argument over me reading MAD and, of course, my grandma won. My grandma took away all of my MAD magazines and threw them away. So, my wish for the MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™ is to send me a whole bunch of MAD magazines, because my grandma deprived me of mine. Liam Fox, Peaks Island, ME

Silence of the Liams — That's terrible that your grandmother took away your entire MAD library! Unconscionable! Sadly, we can't send you a bunch of magazines (we're running a business here, fellat), but we CAN offer you some free advice! Perhaps you could use this as an opportunity to start a collection of NEW reading material. You know, something that lets your grandma know just how much you appreciate her recent actions...something like, oh, we don't know...brochures for old age homes. We're betting that if you leave a bunch of those bad boys laying out on the coffee table, she'll get the message and stop giving you grief over doing the Fold-In! Happy reading! —Ed.

BETTER MATRICULATE THAN NEVER

With enormous effort, I have taken notice that the Usual Gang of Idiots will soon be publishing their 500th issue of this magazine. Incidentally, this will be close to the time that I graduate high school! Looks like we are both ready to forget the past and move on to a brighter future. Congratulations on keeping the material fresh for this long. I'm sure we should both be commended for working in an environment filled with stupidity!

Kurt Wiseman, Silver Firs, WA

Ridin' Kurly — Congratulations on graduating, and thanks for noticing our 500th — we're guessing you aced math in high school! And rest assured, as long as you're there, ANY environment you're working in will be filled with stupidity! —Ed.

ALFRED E. NEUMAN LOOK-ALIKE

Brian R. White sent in this photo of Patrick James "P.J." Falaron — who's making a face that seems to say, "I'm only 5, and I already know I'm going to have a rough road ahead of me." So much to process at such a young age...

ENVELOPE OF THE MONTH

Readers of "The Letters Page" know that the artwork of Jim "Letter-nardo DaVinci" Hutchings has appeared in roughly 497 of our last 500 issues. So it's only fitting that he takes the title yet again with this 500-themed entry! We only hope this gives Jim the closure he's so clearly searching for...

MORE MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

The most quoted living author, Professor Noam Chomsky (left) has stated that he received his early political education at his uncle's New York newsstand in the 1930s. Well, I stated that I received mine via MAD magazine in the 1960s.

Ken Hildebrandt, Nathalie, VA

Your Moment of Ken — The most quoted living author? Wait a minute, did Jackie Collins and Tom Clancy die on us? We think you need to get your facts right before making outrageous comments like that! —Ed!

Have we got a trio of treats for those who had their missives printed on this month's Letters Page! We have the video game Deadly Creatures, courtesy of our friends at THQ, Suddenly Supernatural #3: Unhappy Medium, courtesy of our friends at Hachette Books, and Shin Chan, Season Two Part 1 on DVD, courtesy of our friends at FUNimation Entertainment. THE FUNDALINI

THE 8 BRIGHT SIDES OF HAVING OCTUPLETS

1. Your take of the Halloween candy should last you until Christmas.

2. The looks of jealousy you'll get from women who only have septuplets.

3. Because of the polarizing controversy, you'll probably get lucrative offers from fertility clinics and birth control manufacturers.

4. You can now shoplift TVs in your uterus.

5. You'll greatly increase the odds of having an organ donor if you have health problems later in life... which, let's face it, you probably will, after having all those babies.

6. You'll have created a ready supply of babysitters on hand to look after your next round of children.

7. No more upsetting nightmares about being chased or falling off buildings, since you won't be getting any sleep at all.

8. There's now far less effort in lighting the menorah on holidays (Jewish octuplets only).

If called in front of Congress to answer for his steroid use, he will take the opportunity to lobby for the banning of the infield fly rule.

He claims he can't remember whether he was injected with nandrolone decanoate or nandrolone phenpropionate, and just expects everyone to believe that.

Rodriguez was the guy who sold Michael Phelps that marijuana.

Spent much of January of this year waiting to see if Gov. Paterson would appoint him to Hillary Clinton's vacant Senate seat.

It's a myth that he is jealous of Derek Jeter: it's nothing more than simple hatred and resentment.

He blames the Yankees' recent post-season collapses on third base coaches who didn't flash him the "hit a home run" signal enough.

Rodriguez only had an affair with Madonna in order to learn secrets of the Kaballah.

A modern nursery rhyme...

There was a young woman, now subject of lore
Gave birth to six children, but still wanted more,
With no mate or income it wasn't a breeze
But her dream was to have kids and lips like Jolie's.

So off to the clinic, where she spread her legs
Then some quack implanted the fertilized eggs,
She gave birth to eight babies and then a web page
Where she looked for donations but only found rage.

So now the young woman's whole life is a mess
In debt to her eyeballs and hounded by press,
While it's clear that she's crazy, her brain a bit fried
The whole country is praying she gets her tubes tied!

When The Apprentice turned into Celebrity Apprentice, they only forgot one itty-bitty thing: Celebrities! Last season's washed-up wannabes and barely-were's packed all the star wattage of a sputtering bug zapper. Mr. Donald Trump is a man accustomed to the best in life. Therefore, any celebrity project bearing the Trump name should reflect the unforgettable, shared moments of human culture. The Roman Empire! The Renaissance! Shaving Vince McMahon's head on pay-per-view! So don't ask how it's happened, just root for the history-making superstars as they fight to become...

THE DEAD

CELEBRITY APPRENTICE

I'm Donald Trump, welcoming you to the Trump Boardroom of the Trump Organization, atop magnificent Trump Tower! This is my oily son, Donald Trump Jr., and my way daughter, Ivanka Trump! Trump Trump Trump! Let the fruit of my grimal Trumpatozoa fill you in with the details!

Don't let my slack, inert face fool you! On the inside, I'm a seething cauldron of emotion! And last season's cast of mediocrities made me sick! That's why we spared no expense to pervert genetic science in a deeply obscene way! Presenting the members of Team Zombie!

Bow to Cleopatra! As Queen of Egypt, I held unimaginable power! And my millions of subjects treated my every utterance as the received wisdom of a living god. Think Oprah, but without the Book Club!

They called me the Babel The Babelino! The Sultan of Swat! I'm fat enough for three nicknames! I led my teams to ten World Series! I only wish they had steroids back then. I could have won twenty championships! Including the Kentucky Derby! And not as a jockey, either!

To restore Germany's glory, I plunged her into a ruinous war! As a shrimpy, black-haired nebbish, I promoted the ideal of the blonde Aryan superman! Now, as a virulent racist and anti-semitic, I've decided to chill out with a media job in the racially pure world of show business! Hmm...maybe it just ain't my millennium!

Why, it's me, Groucho Marx! The pleasure is mine, being on a series with The Donald! I think I'd rather be with the Mickey and The Goofy! What a show! You mean I got up from a dead sleep for THIS, when I could be home, decomposing my memoirs? I'd call my agent to complain, but he died in 1929!

I am Emperor Nero! I was a hated leader with daddy issues who seized power under mysterious circumstances, bankrupted my country, and dawdled while one of our major cities was destroyed! Nevertheless, 55% of Roman citizens said I'm the tyrant they'd rather have a beer with!

I tell you, on the day of judgment you will have to give an account for every careless word you utter; for by your words you will be justified, and by your words you will be condemned!

How right you are, Jesus! Each of us must face personal damnation or salvation at that moment of supreme judgment! And that'll all be handled by Dad, in the Dead Celebrity Apprentice boardroom! Introduce yourselves, Team Sarcophagus!

I may be a hunka hunka roting floss, but I'm 1,000% confident that I'll win this competition! Of course, I ALSO thought I'd live to be 45 on a daily diet of pig's feet, peanut butter and prescription drugs!

To be on Dead Celebrity Apprentice, or to be on Celebrity Rehab, that is the question! Because between thou and me, I hath got a pretty strong addiction to mead! As a keen observ'r of the human condition, I wilt have much to speak upon my experiences here. And you can check it all out on <http://www.bardofan.blogspot.com/>!

As your 37th President, my many enemies called me the most paranoid, ruthless, sneaky and contemptible man ever to hold the office! For this backstabbing show, I'm slightly underqualified!

Dooby dooby doo! Old Blue Eyes is back, this time from the gravel! The name "Frank Sinatra" guarantees results! In my career, I was responsible for 203 hits! Or 208 hits, if you believe the FBI files!

Representing the gallant patriots of the American Revolution, I am Betsy Ross! Almost nothing is known about my life. I'm pretty much famous for sewing a flag, and that's it! Hey, it's more of a résumé than Omarosa's!

I'm pro wrestling legend Andre the Giant, and I'm a major "get" for any reality TV series! At 800 pounds, I could be on The Biggest Loser! I could reunite with Hulk Hogan on Hogan Knows Best! And with so many choreographed matches, I'm a natural for Dancing with the Stars! Heck, I could even be on Survivor—as the Island!

This is a cutthroat, anything-goes competition that only one of you will survive! But first, Jesus Christ will give us one of His famous pep talks!

What shall it profit a man if he gains the whole world but loses his soul? It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of Heaven! You cannot serve both God and Money! Love others as well as you love yourself!

I'm just not following You, J-Dawg! Does not compute! No wonder You only had one best-selling book, while I've had a dozen! Your holy message of honesty, love, peace and forgiveness won't last ten minutes in today's TV programming! I hate to do it, but Jesus...YOU'RE FIRED!

Father, forgive him, for he knows not what he does!

Before we begin, I know there are some of you who've never even heard of New York City! Raise your hands. I'm seeing Shakespeare, Nero, Cleopatra...and BABE RUTH? Didn't you play for the Yankees?

I don't know, possibly! Burp! I was pretty wasted!

I thought long and hard about what would be a good task to kick the proceedings off. I wanted it to be totally fair to both sides! The first challenge will be a flag-sewing competition!

Awwwwwww, BOOOO-yeah! In your FACE, Hitler!

I sure do remember Flag Day back in 1927! I belted three home runs, two taxi drivers, and a cop!

Big boy, I can almost see you now, slugging those home runs in Yankee Stadium. But I can't see Yankee Stadium! An old joke, I admit. But I haven't gotten a dime from NBC in fifty years, and they get what they pay for! If you've got a dime, that joke can be yours. Pay me a quarter, and I'll never tell it again! Now that's a deal you can't beat with a stick! But don't take my word for it. For 50 cents, I'll sell you a stick!

This hackneyed design is yesterday's news! Team Zombie's composition has much more appeal! Betsy, YOU'RE FIRED!

These totals are shocking! Team Sarcophagus did very well, selling 182 gallons! But Team Zombieload unloaded 750,000 gallons of Jamba Juice! How is that even possible?

German efficiency! I secretly connected our juice supply to the New York Fire Department's hoses!

And I put the flaming torch to several local structures — Trvmpt Towers, Trvmpt Plaza, the Trvmppapollitan Mvsevm of Art, Trvmpt Grain Silo, Trvmpt Lanes Bowling Emporium and the Trvmpt Interspecies Brothell! Then I fiddled while they burned, and ovr team's juice flowed!

Nero, you toga-wearing twit! There's no profit margin in smoke inhalation! I'm angry about YOUR FIRES! Therefore, YOU'RE FIRED!

A MAD FACTOID...MAD has had two animated TV specials, neither of which has ever aired

It's also come to my attention that a certain crooked contestant has diverted some of the Jamba Juice into his own secret "slushie fund"! Let me make one thing perfectly clear: Nixon, YOU'RE FIRED!

Aw, #$$%! Not again!

I've decided to shake the game down to its very foundations! I'm taking ALL the members of Team Zombieload, and I'm switching them for all the members of the other team! And vice versa!

Way to go, Dadi

That's the kind of meaningless dramatic twist that reinvigorates an otherwise stale and tiresome formula!

And we're not just saying that to suck up to you because we know that somewhere out there, there's a hot, unknown 14-year-old with a Slovakian accent that you will some day end up marrying and will try to talk you into cutting us out of your will!

Dead celebrities, your next task is to create a new promotion for Central Park!

Ah, look at all this open space! "When I have seen the emerald sprawl unfurl! / 'T would ebb and bloom yet ne'er cause breach / Any man may think himself an earl / As Nature claims its glory and its reach."

Sickening, isn't it? If the City Council had half a brain between them, they'd let me bulldoze the whole meadow area, and put up a modest, unobtrusive 68-story skyscraper!

The Central Park Children's Zoo is for kids! Kids don't pay for rent, or gasoline, or groceries. Kids equal disposable cash! I propose we transform the zoo into Manhattan's first casino!

If we're going to build a casino, let's make the floors nice and soft! It was always tough on my back, passing out on stage!

I like that the controller for the Wii is called a Wimote, because whenever anyone says it, it sounds like they have a speech impediment.

[10 April|03:38pm]

[mood] nostalgic]

In third grade, I remember we had a classroom mouse. And we all took a vote on what to name it — "Mr. Sniffles" won — and we'd take turns feeding it and we'd fight over who could take it home on the weekends. It was nice.

I hadn't thought about Mr. Sniffles in ages, but today in biology class, we had to dissect mice. I guess sometime in the last six years, I passed the point where school was about learning that animals are cute, and reached the point where school is about taking animals apart to see what makes them go.

[11 April|05:44pm]

[mood] thoughtful]

If they ever make a sequel to 300, I can't decide which would be worse: Calling it "301", or calling it "300 II".

[11 April|05:59pm]

[mood] thoughtfuller]

OK, here's another thing I don't understand about movies and numbers. In "Ocean's 11", the heist was pulled off by George Clooney and 10 other guys. So, okay, fine. That's 11. But in "Ocean's 12", there were the same 11 guys, although I guess maybe recruiting Julia Roberts's character to help out brought the number up to 12. And then they made "Ocean's 13", and Julia Roberts's character isn't there, which should bump the number back down to "Ocean's 11". Unless maybe getting some help from Andy Garcia's character gets the number up to 12, in which case, it should be "Ocean's 12, But Not the Same 12 As In the Last Movie".

[11 April|06:20pm]

[mood] thoughtfulest]

OK, one more thing. In "101 Dalmatians", why would it possibly take 101 dalmatians to make a single coat? It seems to me like even a big coat would take, like, six dalmatians — seven, tops.

[12 April|10:10pm]

[mood] sleepy]

My little sister Sophie won her 3rd grade classroom spelling bee last week, so now she's going to compete in the school-wide spelling bee. She's really nervous about it, so she's been having me and my dad quiz her on all the words. Last night, after she spelled "abecedarius", I asked her if she even knew what it was. She said no. I asked her, "What good is it to learn a bunch of words if you don't know what they mean?" She said the good it does is that it'll help her beat Amber Malkin, who's the 4th grade champion, who once teased my sister by calling her "Soapy" when she was in the first grade.

My sister can hold a grudge.

[13 April|04:36pm]

I'm willing to accept that Lakes Huron, Michigan, Erie and Superior are Great Lakes. But Lake Ontario seems to just be riding on the other four's coattails. It's just lucky it's near the other four, 'cause if it were in, like, Nebraska or Missouri, it'd just be a regular lake. It's the Stephen Baldwin of lakes.

[13 April|09:04pm]

Now that they've had to listen to their dad lecture them on the subject for, like, 100 hours, I bet that the kids on "How I Met Your Mother" are sorry they ever asked. By now, the show should be titled, "Hey, Where Are You Going? I'm Not Finished Talking About How I Met Your Mother!"

[16 April|06:17pm]

I was wondering about that thing mimes do where they are trapped in a box. Before people knew all about mimes, and miming was just starting out, were people confused by it and thought that maybe the guy actually WAS stuck in a really clear glass box? I can kinda see someone hundreds of years ago in France coming along with a hammer to smash the mime out and then accidentally hitting him in the head. Too bad no one does that to mimes today.

[17 April|09:24pm]

[mood] sad]

Sophie lost the spelling bee today. She was really upset about it. She lost on the word "mozzarella" — she got nervous and left off one of the 's'. She spent all afternoon crying and saying "stupid cheese" over and over. My mom and dad took us out to Applebee's to try and make her feel better. It was going OK, until the people at the table next to us ordered mozzarella sticks and Sophie started crying again and we had to move to another table.

[20 April|03:49pm]

[mood] scared]

Sophie came home from school all excited today, and she kept saying "Ohmigod, ohmigod, guess what?" And my mom said "What?" And Sophie said, "Amber Malkin was cheating!" I guess that, after she won the spelling bee, some teachers discovered that Amber wrote some of the hard-to-spell words on her sleeves. And my mom was like, "So, does this mean you get a chance to be your school's spelling bee champion?" And Sophie said, "No. It just means that Amber Malkin doesn't!" And then she laughed and laughed and laughed.

Remind me to never cross my sister. Ever.

INSANITY CLAWS

An Unhealthy Obsession with WOLVERINE

July 19, 2007

Elation! Bliss! FINALLY, they've decided to green light the Wolverine movie. At long last, we can concentrate on the greatest superhero of all time, without being distracted by the other X-Men characters eating up Wolverine's screen time. No more Cyclops or Storm or Professor X or that stupid Nightcrawler. This film is gonna be all Wolverine, all the time. And just a little Sabretooth. And Deadpool, of course. And Gambit. Agent Zero. Weapon XI. Kestrel. Silver Fox. Blackwing. Emma Frost and the Blob. What a breath of fresh air!

September 25, 2007

I just took an online Marvel Comics personality quiz. You answer 25 questions, and they tell you which character you are most like. I love Wolverine with every fiber of my being, so naturally I assumed I would be him. Like the clawed one, I feel that I too possess a moral ambivalence tinged with mystery that only barely contains a boiling berserker savagery. But I turned out to be Aunt May.

December 12, 2007

There's one thing I do know. The screenplay and the characterization need to faithfully honor the character! That means staying true to the original "X-Men" runs (both "Astonishing" and "Uncanny"), as well as the 1982 mini-series arc, 1984's "Kitty Pryde and Wolverine," both the 1990s "Wolverine" title and the "Wolverine Origins" spinoff, "Weapon X, Volume 1," "Weapon X, Volume 2," the "Fatal Attractions" crossover saga, the "House of M" event series, and the more recent triad of "New Avengers," "X-Force," and "Wolverine: First Class." But as long as the movie sticks closely to the plots of those 900 comic books, I won't complain.

March 5, 2008

It's confirmed that the prickly relationship between Wolverine and his brother Sabretooth is going to be a BIG part of this movie. Me ikely! I don't read books, but I know that the "brother vs. brother" motif has always been a classic literary device through the centuries. It's just like when Hamlet fought his brother, Moby Dick.

August 15, 2008

I just wasted a whole weekend searching for leaked video clips of the "Wolverine" movie, but I came up empty. The closest I got was when I downloaded something called "XXX-Men." It was NOT what I expected. I only watched it eight times. For once, I was glad that my hands don't have razor-sharp claws.

November 8, 2008

Well, I couldn't wait another minute. Since the real trailer won't be out for another four days, I made my own fan trailer and posted it on YouTube. It's got a lot of old X-Men film footage, plus the music from "300," and an Access Hollywood interview I found with Hugh Jackman. Once they find out how much copyrighted material I repurposed, YouTube will probably make me take it down. I don't think that will happen until my video gets at least one viewer, though. It's been up for a week and so far I'm safe.

November 12, 2008

Now I know how Moses must have felt when he glimpsed the Promiscuous Land. Mine eyes have seen the FIRST FULL LENGTH TRAILER for "X-Men Origins: Wolverine." So many cool scenes to choose between! But I think the highlight had to be when Logan claws a speeding military jeep in half while staring his motorcycle with the other hand, then uses the recoil from a missile blast to flip up to a helicopter. Sheer perfection. The expression on his face is EXACTLY the same look that I would have, if I were in an identical situation.

January 14, 2009

This site isn't getting as many visits as I hoped it would, so I've decided to add a new feature: Movie Profile of the Day. I thought I'd start with Kevin Durand, who is playing the role of The Blob. Unfortunately, I don't know anything about this guy or his work. I just hope he has the talent, charisma and understanding of the actor's craft that's required to play a really, really fat guy.

February 23, 2009

My boy Hugh Jackman hosted the Academy Awards. Of course he did a great job, even though he didn't kill anybody. I thought for sure he'd disembowel Waterhouse. I also thought they were set to promote "X-Men Origins: Wolverine" when I spotted a juiced-up mutant with thick, armor-plated skin and animal hair. But it was just Mickey Rourke.

I'm glad Hugh Jackman stopped hosting the Tony Awards, and moved up to the Oscars. I know Jackman's a charismatic star of musical theater. But when I think of Hugh Jackman, in my mind I picture a shirtless man in torn spandex pants, rising out of a tank of liquid, with rippling muscles dripping in sweat. I never liked him on the Tonys, though...that show's kind of gay.

April 2, 2009

I decided it'd be cool to go to the premiere in costume! Problem: I need to grow some Wolverine sideburns of my own. Nothing's worked. Not even after I rubbed some Nu-Gro lotion onto my jawls. I'm almost positive that I bought the hair kind, not the plant kind. After that failed, I tried another strategy to create sideburns. But the pipe cleaners didn't look like real hair. That left me with my last-ditch plan. I shaved the cat and glued the fur to my face. I don't like to admit it, but I think the hair looked better on the cat's ass. Even worse, I just found out he's got fleas.

April 30, 2009

The wait is 99.99999% over! I pre-ordered my Fandango ticket for the midnight show! I'm so jazzed and overexcited, my skin is breaking out! Although that could be a reaction to the leftover cat ass hair I couldn't scrub off. Wolverine! Wolverine! Wolverine!

May 1, 2009

Well, it's 4:30 a.m. and I'm texting this message from the holding center at Juvie. I was at the premiere, and the crowd was revved up. So I pull out my phone to snap a pic for the blog. Out of nowhere, this multiplex nazi runs over, screaming about bootlegging and how the "no video recording devices" sign isn't a joke. He pulled me out of the theater just as the movie was starting, and he tried to confiscate my phone. Everything happened fast after that, but somehow I ended up punching my fist through a cardboard standup ad for "Hannah Montana: The Movie."

Now I'm banned from the theater. I have a June court date. I'm sitting in a low-security pen dressed as Wolverine, and the other detainee keeps telling me that if I fall asleep, I'm going to "meet Colossus." The big night has turned into X-crement. I wish I could retcon my life.

The Bailout Hymn of the Republic

ARTIST: MORT DRUCKER

A MAD FASCIST... The FBI once asked MAD to stop calling its director, J. Edgar Hoover, "J. Edgar Electrolux".

Our eyes have seen the sorrow of a nation going bust,
Filled with bankers and politicians that none of us can trust,
Not to mention Wall Street profiteers who fill us with disgust —
Our hopes and dreams are gone!

*Lordy, lordy, how they blunder!
Major banks now going under!
Years of savings torn asunder —
Our hopes and dreams are gone!*

ARTIST: JAMES WARHOLA

WRITER: FRANK JACOBS

We're now burdened with a stimulus that doesn't stimulate,
Full of all the pork and earmarks that Pelosi could create;
If that's "change we can believe in,"
then it's time to emigrate —
Once more they've led us on!

*Bailout billions they are spending!
Down and down we are descending!
Don't expect a happy ending —
Once more they've led us on!*

See the Big Three automakers begging Congress on their knees,
"All we need is 15 billion — won't you help us, pretty please?"
They fly high in private jets but can't outsell the Japanese —
Their screw-ups still go on!

*Jesus Chrysler, though they're sweating,
Tens of billions they'll be netting!
They'll be back again, we're betting!
Their screw-ups still go on!*

Fanny Mae and Freddy Mac allowed the sub-prime loans to tank,
Which brought on the home foreclosures
when the housing market sank;
If you want to play the blame game,
give a nod to Barney Frank —
The madness still goes on!

*Daily, daily, repossession!
More like legalized oppression!
Surely heading for depression!
The madness still goes on!*

We've beheld the massive layoffs
at Alcoa and Mattel,
At Home Depot, Nike, Target, (gulp!)
at Microsoft as well;
Will your ass soon join the masses of discarded personnel?
The glory years are gone!

*State by state, our woes are spreadin' —
Day by day we're surely headin'
Down the road to Armageddon —
The glory years are gone!*

With Obama in the White House
we can sit back and relax,
Though he's tried to push through nominees who've cheated on their tax,
And his spending spree's enormous and will stretch us to the max,
We all must cheer him on!

*Glory, glory, idolize him!
Praise his name and lionize him!
Shame on all who satirize him —
We all must cheer him on!*

ARTIST: RICHARD WILLIAMS

What, us worry? Yes, we do because our future's far from clear;
Though we used to publish monthly,
now it's just four times a year;
Hey, Obama, use your clout and send some bailout money here —
Somehow we'll stumble on!

*Hurry, hurry, please don't blow it!
Send a billion and we'll owe it!
Sure, it's pork, but who's to know it?
Somehow we'll stumble on!*
